BOOTHBY.

Boothby, Sir Brooke, Bart., of Broadlow Ash, co. Derby; b. 18 Nov. 1856; 2nd secretary Diplomatic Service; s. his father in 1876 as 11th bart.

Lineage.

The Boothbys claim Saxon origin, and the assumption is sustained by Dugdale and Camden. The former very learned antiquary (Origines Juridicales, c. ix.) fixes the division of counties in the year 800, by Egbert; and the latter, speaking of Lincolnshire, says: "The hundred or wapentake of Boothby, Boothby-Pagnell, a market-town, and a gentleman's old seat called Boothby, were denominated from one Boothby, who there inhabited."

Theobaldus de Boothby was governor of Pontefract Castle, which he defended with great gallantry for the Lancastrians during the war of the Roses. From this Theobald we pass to Thomas de Boothby, living in the reign of Edward VI., whose great-grandson, William de Boothby, m. Judith, dau. of Thomas Austin, Esq. of The Grange, Wolverhampton, and by her (who was widow firstly of Sir Richard Corbet, Knt., and 2ndly, of William Basset, of Blore, co. Stafford), he had, with other issue.

I. Henry Boothby, Esq., who was created a Baronet, 5 Nov. 1644, by letters patent, which received the sign-manual of Charles I., but did not pass the seals, owing to the confusion of the civil wars. All the real estates enjoyed by Sir Henry he derived from the good management of his mother, his father having devised him money only. This lady, through her own exertions, was enabled to leave her son an estate in London; another called Kingsland, in Middlesex; Clatercote, Cladon, and the manor of Cropperdy, in Oxfordshire; Broadlow-Ash, Cold Eaton, King's Mills, and the lands thereto belonging, near Ashbourne, Derbyshire; one-half of the manor or park of Cheadle, with Longnor, and other possessions in Staffordshire. Sir Henry m. Mary, dau. of Sir Thomas Hayes, Knt., lord mayor of London in 1615, and was s. at his decease, in 1648, by his only son,

II. Sir William, who received the honour of knighthood, in the field, from Charles II. at the Restoration; and the king was pleased to renew, gratis, the patent granted to his father, by the name of Sir William Boothby, "of Broadlow Ash" (the original being designated "of Clator Close") but from the date of 12 July, 1660. This gentleman m. 1st, Frances, dau. of Col. Milward, of Snitterton, co. Derby, and had one son,

Francis, who m. Anne, dau. and co heir of Thomas Child, Esq., but dying before his father, left an only child, BORTHWICK.

Borthwick, Baron (Archibald-Patrick-Thomas Borthwick), in Scotland, b. 3 Sept. 1867; s. his father as 17th baron, 1885.

Lineage.

Sir William Borthwick was employed in various Scottish embassies to England between 1398 and 1415. In 1410 he had a charter from the Regent Albany of the lands of Borthwick, in Selkirkshire, which had been known under that name as far back as the reign of William the Lion. He was a hostage for the safe return of James I., in 1421; a Commissioner to treat for that King's release in 1423, and one of the assize on the trial of Duke Murdoch in 1425. On 2 June, 1430, James I. granted him permission under the Great Seal to erect and fortify a castle in the Mote of Lochorwart, in the county of Edinburgh. Borthwick Castle, the fortress then built, is remarkable for solidity and regular masonry, and its walls are still well preserved. Of his daus., Janet was 2nd wife of Sir James Douglas, 1st Lord Dalkeith; and Margaret, m. Sir William Abernethy, of Saltoun, who was killed at Harlaw, and in 1421 had a dispensation to marry William Douglas younger, of Dalkeith, stepson of his sister. His son and heir,

Sir William Borthwick was keeper of Edinburgh Castle during Albany's regency, when he is prominent in the exchequer accounts among the magnates who habitually plundered the Customs. He was knighted at the baptism of James II., and was made a Lord of Parliament as Lord Borthwick, on 12 June, 1452. This date, given in the "Auchinleck Chronicle" is corroborated by record evidence. No instrument of creation is extant, but the investitures of the lands seem to have been to heirs male. Of two younger sons, James, of Glengelt, and Thomas, of Collielaw, the former had issue. The eldest son,

William, 2nd Lord Borthwick, m. 1458, Mariota Hoppringle, and d. 1483, when he was s. by his son,

William, 3rd Lord Borthwick, slain at Flodden, 9 Sept. 1513, leaving two sons,

Henry, killed at Ramillies, leaving, by his wife, Mary, dau. of Sir Robert Pringle, of Stichill, Bart., two sons, William, de jure 11th Lord, and Henry, of whom below, as 12th Lord.

2 Alexander, of Reidhall and Sauchnell, d. leaving issue,

Andrew Borthwick, of Sauchnell, m. Margaret Turnbull, and had issue,

Archibald Borthwick, minister of Polwarth, d. before Sept. 1799, leaving a son,

Patrick Borthwick, m. Marion Scott, and d. 1772, leaving a son,

Archibald Borthwick, de jure 13th Lord Borthwick, sometime of Christiansund in Norway, and afterwards of Edinburgh, s. his cousin in 1772. He m. before 1780, Margaret Scott, and d. 1815, leaving issue,

Patrick, de jure 14th Lord.
Rachael, d. 1876.

Patrick Borthwick, de jure 14th Lord Borthwick, manager of the National Bank, Edinburgh, claimed the peerage in 1816. He m. 13 Nov. 1804, Ariana, dau. of Cunninghame Corbet, Esq. of Tollcross, and sister of Ross Corbet-Porterfield, Esq. of Duchal, and d. 12 April, 1840, having had issue,

i. Archibald, de jure 15th Lord Borthwick, b. 31 Aug. 1811, who m. 1 Aug. 1840, Mary-Louisa, dau. of John Home-Home, of Longformacus, and d. 3 July, 1863, leaving two daus., Louisa-Ramsay, m. 3 June, 1873, Lieut.-Col. Henry-Philip-Miles Wylie, late King's Royal Rifle Corps, and Mary-Catherine, m. 1870, William-George Spens, Esq., and has issue.
ii. Cunninghame, 16th Lord Borthwick.
iii. Thomas-Scott, d. unm. 22 April, 1839.

William, the 4th Lord Borthwick, entrusted with the command of Stirling Castle (containing the infant king), m. 1491, Margaret, dau. of John, Lord Hay, of Yester, by whom he had two sons and two daus. The eldest son, William, the Master of Borthwick, m. Mariot Seton, dau. of George, Lord Seton, but d. in the life-time of his father without issue. Of the daus., Katherine, m. Sir James Crichton, of Frendraught, and Janet, m. Alexander Lauder, of Haltoun. This 4th Lord Borthwick was possessed of considerable estates in the cos. of Edinburgh, Selkirk, Berwick, Peebles, and Aberdeen, and he made a settlement of his estates in the year 1538. Dying 1542, he was s. by his only surviving son,

John, 5th Lord Borthwick, who took an active part in public affairs at the time of the Reformation, which he opposed, saying that he would believe as his father had done before him. He m. the Lady Isabel Lindsay, eldest dau. of David, 8th Earl of Crawford, and d. 1565, leaving issue,

William, 6th Lord Borthwick.
Mariotta, m. to Andrew Hoppringle, of Galashiels.

William, 6th Lord Borthwick, also took an active part in public affairs, and warmly supported the cause of Queen Mary. He m. Grissel, eldest dau. of Sir Walter Scott, of Branxholm, and by her (who m. 2ndly, Walter, son of John Cairncross, of Colmslie) had two sons, William, Master of Borthwick, who d. unm. 17 March, 1570-71, in the lifetime of his father.

James, 7th Lord Borthwick.

William, 6th Lord Borthwick, d. before 1597, and was s. by his only surviving son,

James, 7th Lord Borthwick, who did not long enjoy the title, having d. Dec. 1599. He m. 1582, Margaret, eldest dau. of William, Lord Hay, of Yester, and by her (who m. Sir Robert Lauder, of Popil) had one son,

John, 8th Lord Borthwick, who was served heir to his father in the barony of Borthwick, 4 July, 1621. He m. Lady Lilias Kerr, 5th dau. of Mark, 1st Earl of Lothian, by whom he had a dau., m. to Robert Dundas, of Harviestown, 2nd son of Sir James Dundas, of Arniston, and a son,

John, 9th Lord Borthwick, who was b. 9 Feb. 1616. In 1650, he held out his castle of Borthwick against a siege by Oliver Cromwell, and obtained honourable terms of surrender. He m. 23 Aug. 1649, Lady Elizabeth Kerr, 2nd dau. of William, 3rd Earl of Lothian, without issue. He d. 1672, and was s. in the castle of Borthwick, &c., by his nephew, John Dundas, son of his sister, who was served heir to him.

(The Borthwick title then remained dormant for some time. Neither Major William Borthwick (then de jure 10th Lord), nor William, son of Captain Henry, who were in turn entitled to the peerage, assumed it.)

William, de jure 11th Lord Borthwick, being heir male of William, de jure 10th Lord (refer to issue of Captain Henry Borthwick, son of William Borthwick of Pelinore). He d. without issue before 1723.

Henry Borthwick, resumed the title in 1727, voted at elections of Peers in 1734 and succeeding years down to 1761, when, in consequence of a protest against his vote, and an order by the House of Lords that he should abstain from voting till he had established his right, he claimed the title by petition to the King in 1762, and on the report of the House of Lords, was found entitled to it as heir male of the body of the 1st Lord. He m. 5 March, 1770, Margaret, dau. of George Drummond, of Broich, co. Stirling, but d. s. p. 6 Sept. 1772, and the title again became dormant, not being assumed either by Patrick Borthwick, who survived only a few weeks, or by Patrick's son Archibald, then absent in Norway; and in the meantime (1774), John Borthwick, of Crookston, presented a petition claiming the dignity on an averment of descent from a younger son of the 1st Lord; but no judgment was pronounced on his claim. In 1808, the rightful heir, Archibald, returning home, took proceedings to establish his right by petition to the Crown, and was opposed by John Borthwick, of Crookston, son of the claimant of 1774, who now rested his case on a denial of the legitimacy of Alexander Borthwick, of Nenthorn, a plea which struck at the right of Henry Lord Borthwick, which had been admitted in 1762. In respect of a discrepancy between the pedigree given in 1762, and that asserted by the claimant, Archibald (arising from an accidental omission of a generation in the former), the Committee of Privileges allowed the question to be opened up: but neither claim was then pressed to a decision, although on the death of Archibald, his son Patrick (1816) petitioned the crown anew. On the death of Patrick's elder son, in 1863, the representation devolved on,

Cunninghame Borthwick, 16th Lord Borthwick, elected a representative peer in 1880, D.L. co. of Wigtown, b. 6 June, 1813; m. 18 July, 1865, Harriet-Alice, dau. of Thomas-Hermitage Day, Esq., banker, of Rochester, and had issue,

Sir Charles-Henry inherits two baronetcies: of one he is the 11th in succession of the other, the 3rd.

Lineage.

The family of Rouse is of very high antiquity in the several counties of Sussex, Worcester, Warwick, Gloucester, and Hereford. Dr. Nash, in his History of Worcestershire, mentions that its patriarch in that shire accompanied the CONQUEROR into England; and the statement is confirmed by the Battle Abbey Roll. On 23 July, 1641, the dignity of Baronet was conferred upon

THOMAS ROUSE, Esq. of Rouse Lench, co. Worcester, eldest son of Sir John Rouse, Knt. He m. 1st, Jane, dau. of Sir John Ferrers, of Tamworth Castle, by whom he had,

I. EDWARD, his heir.
I. Hesther, who m. Sir William Russell, Bart., and had an only child,

Mary, who m. 1st, H.-C. Cotton, Esq., by whom she had a dau., Catherine, wife of Thomas Lewis, Esq.; and 2ndly, Lord Arthur Somerset, by whom she was mother of MARY, who m. Algernon Greville, Esq., and had a son, Fulke, and two daus., of whom the elder, Mary, became the wife of SHUCKBURGH BOUGHTON, Esq., and was the mother of Sir Charles-William Rouse-Boughton, 9th bart.

II. Mary, who m. E. Phillips, Esq., and was grandmother of Thomas-Phillips Rouse, Esq.

Sir Thomas m. 2ndly, Frances, dau. of David Murray Esq., and had by her, two sons, FRANCIS and THOMAS. The younger of these sons,

SIR THOMAS ROUSE, the 4th bart., d. in 1721, when the issue male failed, and the estates of Sir Thomas passed to his then only surviving sister,

ELIZABETH ROUSE, at whose decease, unm. in 1729, her sister Mary's grandson, the next male relation of the family, inherited, viz.,

THOMAS PHILLIPS, Esq., who assumed the surname and arms of ROUSE, and took up his residence at Rouse Lench. This gentleman served the office of high-sheriff of Worcester, as Thomas Rouse, Esq., in 1733. He d. unm. in 1768, and was s. by his cousin, CHARLES WILLIAM BOUGHTON, Esq. (2nd son of Shuckburgh Boughton, Esq. of Poston Court, co. Hereford, and grandson of Sir William Boughton, 4th bart. of Lawford, co. Warwick), who assumed the surname of ROUSE, and represented the boroughs of Evesham and Bramber, as Charles-William Boughton-Rouse, Esq. Mr. Boughton-Rouse was chief secretary, in 1784, to the Board of Control, and, upon retirement from office, was created a Baronet, 28 June, 1791; but very soon afterwards he inherited the baronetage of his own family, the Boughtons, to which we must now revert.

I. WILLIAM BOUGHTON, Esq. of Lawford, son of EDWARD BOUGHTON, and Elizabeth his wife, heiress of Edward Catesby, grandson of WILLIAM BOUGHTON (who d. 38 ELIZABETH), by Jane his wife, sister of Thomas Coningsby, and great-grandson, by Elizabeth his wife, dau. and co-heir of William Willington, of Barcheston, co. Warwick, of EDWARD BOUGHTON, who d. 1 EDWARD VI., was created a Baronet 4 Aug. 1641. He m. Abigail, eldest dau. and co-heir of Henry Baker, Esq., and was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

Lineage.

The family of NEWPORT, who derived their name from Newport in Shropshire, were settled at a very early period in that county, wherein they held a position of pre-eminence for more than three centuries. In the latter part of the 14th century we find them seated at High Ercall, in Shropshire, which they held in capite from the crown.

THOMAS NEWPORT, Esq. of High Ercall, was deceased in 1401, and his son,

THOMAS NEWPORT, Esq. of High Ercall, was sheriff of Shropshire 1403. Their descendant,

WILLIAM NEWPORT, Esq. of High Ercall, who was sheriff of Shropshire, 1472, m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. and co-heir of Sir John Burgh, Knt. of Mowthwy, who was descended from the ancient Lords of Powys and the Princes of South Wales; their son,

JOHN NEWPORT, Esq. of High Ercall, was sheriff of Shropshire, 1491, and d. 1512. By his wife Alice, dau. of Sir Thomas Swynerton, Knt., he was father of

THOMAS NEWPORT, Esq. of High Ercall, sheriff of Shropshire 1542, who m. Ann, dau. of Sir Roberf Corbet, Knt. of Moreton Corbet, by whom he had an elder son,

SIR RICHARD NEWPORT, Knt. of High Ercall, who was several times sheriff of Shropshire, and a Member of the Council of the Marches of Wales. He d. 1570, having m. Margaret, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Bromley, Knt., Lord Chief Justice of England; their eldest son,

SIR FRANCIS NEWPORT, Knt. of High Ercall, was also several times sheriff of Shropshire. He d. 1623, leaving issue by his wife, Beatrice, dau. of Rowland Lacon, Esq. of Willey, co. Salop, a son,

SIR RICHARD NEWPORT, 1st Lord Newport, who was raised to the Peerage 14 Oct. 1642, by the title of BARON NEWPORT, of High Ercall. He m. Rachel, dau. of John Leveson, of Haling, co. Kent, and sister of Sir Richard Leveson, Knt. of Trentham, co. Stafford, and d. 1650, leaving a son,

FRANCIS, 2nd Lord Newport, P.C., b. 23 Feb. 1620, who represented the borough of Shrewsbury in the lifetime of his father, was, after the Restoration, made Lord-Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of Shropshire, and first Comptroller, and afterwards Treasurer of the Royal Household. On 11 March, 1674, he was advanced to the dignity of VISCOUNT NEWPORT, of Bradford, co. Salop, and by patent dated 11 May, 1694, was created EARL OF BRADFORD. He m. 28 April, 1642, Lady Diana Russell, dau. of Francis, 4th Earl of Bedford, by whom (who d. 30 Jan. 1695) he had, with several daus., two sons, who survived him,

I. RICHARD, his successor.
II. Thomas, created Lord Torrington, who was thrice married, but d. s. p. (see BURKE'S Extinct and Dormant Peerage).

The earl d. 19 Sept. 1708, and was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD, 2nd Earl of Bradford, P.C., b. 1645, who was made, on the resignation of his father, about 1704, Lord-Lieutenant of Shropshire, and who was also Lord-Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum, co. Montgomery; he m. Mary, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Thomas Wilbraham, Bart. of Woodhay, co. Chester, and of Weston-under-Lizard, co. Stafford, by which marriage he acquired the manor of Weston, and by her (who d. 3 Dec. 1737) had issue,

BRECKNOCK, EARL OF, see CAMDEN, MARQUESS.

* On the death of the 2nd marquess the right to the estates was litigated between J.-A.-G. Campbell, of Glenfalloch (the late Earl), and Charles-William Campbell, of Borland, each claiming to be also entitled to the earldom, the question in dispute being the validity of the marriage of Captain James Campbell, of Glenfalloch. The Court of Session and the House of Lords on appeal decided in favour of Glenfalloch, who accordingly was served heir male of tailzie and provision on 9 Jan. 1868, and immediately afterwards petitioned the Crown as claiming the earldom. Two other claimants also petitioned, John Campbell, of Fort William, asserting descent from the disinherited Lord Ormelie, and John McCallum, averring descent from a dau. of the 3rd earl. On the report of the House of Lords on the claims in 1872, Glenfalloch was found to be in right to the earldom.

Lineage.

(See that of his grandfather, Henry, 2nd Viscount Hood.)

ALEXANDER HOOD, b. 2 Dec. 1726, entered the British service at a very early age, and rose to be a great naval commander. His capture of two French vessels of war in two actions in Hyeres Bay, in 1757, and his retaking of the "Warwick" in 1761, won distinction; and his conduct as rear-admiral under Lord Howe, at the relief of Gibraltar, 1782, gained for him the order of the Bath. Hood, as second in command (his flag was hoisted on board the "Royal George," which encountered the hottest of the fire) contributed no little to the ever-memorable victory of the 1 June, 1794: he was created Baron Bridport of Cricket St. Thomas, in Ireland, 12 Aug. following. On the 23rd June, 1795, as lordship, with an inferior force (for half his ships had been separated from him) daringly attacked the French fleet of twelve ships of the line and ten frigates, close to port Orient, and defeated them, with, on his side, little loss and signal and splendid success; he was, in consequence, elevated to the peerage of Great Britain, 13 June, 1796, as Baron Bridport, of Cricket St. Thomas, co. Somerset. After scattering a French fleet which had landed some troops in Wales in 1796, and after aiding in appeasing the mutiny in the Nore, in 1797, Lord Bridport succeeded Earl Howe as vice-admiral of Great Britain, and on 16 June, 1800, he was further advanced to the dignity of VISCOUNT BRIDPORT, being then also a general of marines. The viscount m. 1st, 1761, Maria, dau. of the Rev. Richard West, D.D., prebendary of Winchester, which lady d. 12 Sept. 1786; and 2ndly, 26 June, 1788, Maria-Sophia, dau. and heiress of Thomas Bray, Esq. of Edmonton, who d. his widow 18 Feb. 1831, aged 85. His lordship leaving no issue at his decease, 3 May, 1814, the English honours ceased, while the Irish barony devolved, according to the limitation of the patent, upon his great-nephew,

SAMUEL, 2nd baron, b. 7 Dec. 1788; m. 3 July, 1810, Charlotte-Mary, only surviving dau. and heir of William, 1st Earl Nelson, and, as such, Duchess of Bronté, by whom (who d. 9 Jan. 1873) he had issue.

Lineage.

Sir Richard le Scot, the undoubted ancestor of this family, was a person of great distinction in the reign of Alexander III. of Scotland. He m. the dau. and heiress of Murthockstone of that ilk, by whom he obtained a considerable estate in Lanarkshire, and, as a feudal lord thereof, swore fealty to Edward I., of England, anno 1296. Upon his marriage, Sir Richard assumed the cognizance of Murthockstone, which was a bend azure, into his armorial bearings, disposing thereon the crescents and star, the arms of Scot, as since borne by the Dukes of Buccleuch. He d. in 1320; and from him lineally descended

Sir David Scot, of Branxholm, who sat in the parliament held by James III. at Edinburgh, anno 1487, under the designation of "Dominus de Buccleuch," being the first of the family so designated. The grandson of this Sir David,

Sir Walter Scott, of Branxholm and Buccleuch (son of David Scott, who d. v. p.), s. his grandfather in 1492. This laird, a brave and powerful baron, and warden of the west marches of Scotland, is celebrated by historians for deeds of valour and magnanimity during the minority of James V., and for an abortive attempt to rescue that monarch from the control of the Earl of Angus; on which Sir Walter Scott has founded The Lay of the Last Minstrel. Soon after the king had assumed the management of his own affairs, he privately solicited the aid of Buccleuch, who, being apprised that James, accompanied by Angus and a considerable retinue, was coming to Melross, raised about 1000 horse of his friends and followers to relieve the king. The adherents of Buccleuch and Angus came in sight near Melross, 18 July, 1526, and a sanguinary conflict ensued, but the earl was successful, after the fall of a number of men of rank on both sides, Sir Walter Scott himself being wounded and barely escaping from the field. He was afterwards distinguished at the battle of Pinkie, anno 1547; and eventually lost his life in the streets of Edinburgh, 1552, in an encounter with Sir Walter Kerr, of Cessford. Sir Walter m. 1st, Elizabeth Carmichael, of the Hyndford family, by whom he had two sons. He m. 2ndly, Janet, dau. of John Bethune, of Creich, "of Bethune's line of Picardie," and had two sons and three daus. The last wife of Sir Walter was a woman of masculine spirit, as appeared from her riding at the head of her clan after her husband's murder. Sir Walter Scott was s. by his grandson,

Sir Walter Scott, of Buccleuch (son of William Scott and Grizel Betoun, his wife). This was a person of rare qualities, wise, true, stout, and modest. He signed the association in support of James VI. in 1567, but subsequently turned to the party of the Queen, to whom he remained faithful, notwithstanding her extorted resignation of the crown, and her captivity in England. He m. Lady Margaret Douglas, eldest dau. of David, 7th Earl of Angus, and dying 17 April, 1574, was s. by his only son,

Sir Walter Scott, of Buccleuch. This powerful chieftain, no way inferior to the bravest of his ancestors in courage and intrepidity, received the honour of knighthood from James VI., by whom he was appointed Warden of the West Marches in 1590. Having subsequently carried on a predatory warfare against the English, and boldly rescued one of his attendants, Kinmont Will, from the castle of Carlisle, he was delivered up as a hostage upon an adjustment of the feuds between the English and Scots. During his sojourn in England, family tradition states that he was brought into the presence of Queen Elizabeth, who demanded, in her usual arbitrary manner, how he dared to engage in deeds so desperate and presumptuous? "What is it," answered the undaunted chieftain, "what is it that a man dares not do?" Elizabeth, struck with this reply, said to a lord-in-waiting: "With ten thousand such men, our brother of Scotland might shake the firmest throne in Europe." Sir Walter was elevated to the peerage, 18 March, 1606, as Lord Scott of Buccleuch. His lordship afterwards, as a military commander, attained considerable renown in the Netherlands, under Maurice, Prince of Orange. He m. Mary, dau. of Sir William Kerr, of Cessford, and sister of Robert, 1st Earl of Roxburghe, and dying 15 Dec. 1611, was s. by his only son,

Walter, 2nd baron, who was created 16 March, 1619, Lord Whitchester and Eskdale, and Earl of Buccleuch, with remainder to his heirs whatsoever. This nobleman was also a military character, and had the command of a regiment under the States of Holland, against the Spaniards. His lordship m. Lady Mary Hay, dau. of Francis, Earl of Erroll, and dying 20 Nov. 1633, was s. by his only surviving son,

Francis, 2nd earl, b. 21 Dec. 1626, who m. July, 1646, Lady Margaret Leslie, sister of John, Duke of Rothes, and widow of Lord Balgonie; by whom (who m. 3rdly, David, 2nd Earl of Wemyss, and d. in 1688) he left, at his decease, 25 Nov. 1651, two daus., and was s. by the elder,

Mary, Countess of Buccleuch, b. 31 Aug. 1647. Her ladyship m. 9 Feb. 1659, Walter Scott, of Highchester, afterwards created Earl of Tarras for life: at the time of her marriage the countess was but eleven years of age, and Mr. Scott fourteen. He was b. 25 Dec. 1644, and d. in April, 1693 (see Polwarth, B.). The affair made a considerable noise, and became matter of discussion before the provincial Synod of Fife, in 1659, upon an accusation against the presbytery for granting a warrant for the marriage without proclamation. The presbytery was, however, absolved, because the order was grounded upon an act of the General Assembly, allowing such marriages in case of necessity, for fear of rape; and the lady's friends were apprehensive of her being carried off. The countess died in two years afterwards, 12 March, 1661, without issue, and was s. by her sister,

Anne, 2nd countess, b. 11 Feb. 1651. This lady, who was esteemed the greatest heiress and finest woman of her time, m. 1st, 20 April, 1663, James, Duke of Monmouth, K.G., illegitimate son of Charles II., by Mrs. Lucy Walters, dau. of Richard Walters, Esq. of Haverfordwest, co. Pembroke. His grace, upon his marriage, assumed the name of Scott, and his grace and his duchess were created, 20 April, 1673, Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, Earl and Countess of Dalkeith, Baron and Baroness of Whitchester and Eskdale, in Scotland, with remainder to their heirs male, in default of which to the heirs whatever descending from the duke's body, succeeding in the estate and Earldom of Buccleuch. His grace's honours, however (Scottish and English), were forfeited on his execution, 15 July, 1685; while those enjoyed by the Duchess in her own right (Dukedom of Buccleuch by creation, and Earldom of Buccleuch by inheritance) remained unaffected by the attainder. The issue of this union were

I. James, Earl of Dalkeith, b. 23 May, 1674, and d. during his mother's lifetime, 14 March, 1705, having m. 2 Jan. 1693, Lady Henrietta Hyde, 2nd dau. of Laurence, Earl of Rochester, by whom, who d. 30 May, 1730, he had surviving issue, Francis, who s. his grandmother as 2nd Duke of Buccleuch.

II. Henry, b. 1676; created Earl of Deloraine, Viscount Hermitage, and Baron Scott of Goldilands, which honours became extinct on the decease of the 4th Earl in Sept. 1807.

The Duchess m. 2ndly, 6 May, 1688, Charles, 3rd Lord Cornwallis, by whom she had no surviving issue. Her Grace d. 6 Feb. 1732, and was s. by her grandson,

Francis, 2nd Duke, b. 11 Jan. 1694. His Grace, in 1743, obtained a restoration, by act of Parliament, of the Earldom of Doncaster and the Barony of Scott of Tyndale, the English honours which had been forfeited by his grandfather, James, Duke of Monmouth, in 1685. He m. 1st, 5 April, 1720, Lady Jane Douglas, eldest dau. of James, 2nd Duke of Queensberry, by whom (who d. 3 Aug. 1729) he had issue, with three daus. who d. young, and a 2nd son, Charles, who d. in his 20th year, 18 June, 1747,

Francis, Earl of Dalkeith, b. 19 Feb. 1720-1, and d. during his father's lifetime, 1 April, 1750, having m. 2 Oct. 1742, Lady Caroline Campbell, eldest dau. of John, Duke of Argyll and Greenwich, which lady m. 2ndly, 18 Sept. 1755, the Right Hon. Charles Townshend, brother of George, 1st Marquess Townshend, and was created Baroness Greenwich.* The Earl had issue,

Lineage.

Buchan, one of the old Celtic maormordoms, afterwards earldoms of Scotland, was, early in the 13th century, carried by an heiress to the Comyn family, who siding against Bruce, forfeited their possessions and title. The earldom of Buchan was afterwards conferred on Alexander Stewart (the "Wolf of Badenoch"), son of Robert II., who d. s. p. 1394, and the Regent Albany bestowed it on his 2nd son, John Stewart, constable of France, who fell at Verneuil.

James Stewart, 2nd son of the Black Knight of Lorn and Queen Joan, of Beaufort was made Earl of Buchan and Lord Auchterhouse in 1469, with remainder to the heirs of his body. By his marriage with Margaret, dau. and heir of Sir Alexander Ogilvy, of Auchterhouse, his family became hereditary sheriffs of Forfar. He was s. by his son,

BURDETT.

BURDETT, SIR FRANCIS, of Foremark, co. Derby, formerly lieut. 17th lancers, b. 5 July, 1869; s. his father as 8th bart. 1892.

Lineage.

WILLIAM BURDETT, Lord of Louseby, co. Leicester, founded the Priory at Aucote, near Sockington, co. Warwick, temp. HENRY II. His lineal descendant (the intermediate pedigree may be seen in the Visitation of Leicestershire, A.D. 1619),

SIR ROBERT BURDETT, Knt. m. Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir Gerard de Camville, with whom he obtained the manor of Arrow, in Warwickshire, where he settled. This gentleman represented the co. of Warwick in parliament in the 14th of EDWARD II., and in three years afterwards was one of the commissioners for the gaol delivery at Warwick. He subsequently represented Leicestershire, and afterwards the co. Warwick again. He d. in 1333, and we pass to his great-great-grandson,

SIR NICHOLAS BURDETT, Knt., who fell at the battle of Pontoise, in 1440. This gentleman was chief butler of Normandy, and governor of Eureux: by his wife, Joan, cousin and heiress of Henry Bruin, he obtained the manor of Bramcote, in Warwickshire, and left a son and heir,

THOMAS BURDETT, Esq. of Arrow, a person of great note and figure in the co. Warwick, who fell a victim to his attachment to the Duke of Clarence, temp. EDWARD IV., and was beheaded in 1477. After his death, a great contest for his manor of Arrow and other estates arose between Richard Burdett, his son, by Agnes, dau. of John Waldeif, a former wife, that had been, from nearness of kindred, divorced from him in 1444; and John Burdett, his son, by Margaret, dau. of John Rodney. The matter finally terminated by certain of the estates, including Arrow, passing to the dau. and heiress of Richard Burdett; and the remainder to the son and heir of JOHN (himself, who had attained the honour of knighthood, dying before the decision), namely,

THOMAS BURDETT, Esq. of Bramcote, who d. about the 31st of HENRY VIII., and was s. by his eldest son (by Mary dau. of Sir Robert Throckmorton, Knt.),

ROBERT BURDETT, Esq., M.P. for the co. of Warwick, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Thomas Cockaine, Knt. of Ashburne, co. Derby, and d. 1548. The grandson of this marriage,

ROBERT BURDETT, Esq., m. Mary, dau. of the Very Rev. Thomas Wilson, D.D., dean of Durham; and dying in 1603, was s. by his only son,

I. THOMAS BURDETT, Esq., who was created a Baronet 25 Feb. 1618. Sir Thomas m. Jane, dau. and heiress of William Fraunceys, Esq. of Foremark, co. Derby, which seat has since been one of the chief places of residence of the family; by this lady he had, with other children, FRAUNCYS, his successor, ROBERT, a merchant and alderman of the city of London; and Catherine, m. to Sebright Repington, Esq. He was s. by his eldest son,

II. SIR FRAUNCYS, b. 10 Sept. 1608; who m. Elizabeth, dau. of the lord chief baron (Sir John) Walter; and dying 30 Dec. 1696, was s by his eldest son,

III. SIR ROBERT, b. 11 Jan. 1640, M.P. for the co. Warwick. This gentleman m. 1st, Mary, only dau. of Gervase Pigot, Esq. of Thrumpton, Notts, and co-heir of John St. Andrew, Esq. of Goteham, in the same shire, by whom he had one dau. Elizabeth, m. to Charles Jeneus, Esq. He m. 2ndly, Magdalen, dau. of Sir Thomas Aston, of Aston, Bart., and had by her a son,

ROBERT, b. 25 June, 1680; m. Elizabeth, only dau. and heiress of William, Viscount Tracy, by Frances, his wife, dau. and heiress of Leicester, Viscount Hereford, by Elizabeth Withipool, his wife, which Elizabeth was great granddau. of Sir William Cornwallis, and Lucy his wife, dau. and co-heir of John Nevill, Lord Latimer, one of the co-heirs of the Barony of Scales. Robert Burdett, d. v. p. 2 Jan. 1716, leaving a posthumous son, ROBERT, 4th baronet.

II. Alexander-Edwin, b. 26 April, 1881.
I. Ethel.
II. Mary-Bertha.

Lineage.

The family of BURNARD was one of considerable importance and large possessions in Wiltshire and Bedfordshire during the two centuries following the Conquest: their ancestor appears in Domesday as mesne tenant of William de Ow, in the cos. of Bedford, Hants and Wilts. From them, doubtless, sprang the Burnards or Burnetts, bearing the same arms, who appeared in the south of Scotland simultaneously with a number of English settlers in the 12th century. Down to the middle of the 14th century they owned Farningdown, co. Roxburgh, and they figure prominently among the benefactors to Melrose Abbey.

ALEXANDER BURNARD, one of that family who had been attached to the fortunes of Robert Bruce, obtained from that king, in 1324, several charters of lands in Aberdeenshire, forfeited by the Comyn family, including Killenach-Clerach, and other lands within the Forest of Drum, newly converted into a park. The keeping of the Forest, bestowed first on him, was afterwards given to William of Irvine, Alexander Burnard getting the two Cardneys in compensation. William Burnard had in 1318, a charter of lands in the forest of Drum, on the resignation of his father Symon. ROBERT intervened between him and John, who, in 1446, is designated "of Leys." His son, Alexander Burnet, of Leys, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Alexander Forbes, of Echt, and widow of Alexander Riach, and had (with a dau. Christian, m. in 1480 to Alexander Comyn, of Culter) a son, ALEXANDER BURNET, of Leys, who m. Janet Gardine, and had Alexander, his heir, and Duncan, parson of Methlick and a canon of Aberdeen. His eldest son,

ALEXANDER BURNET, of Leys, m. Agnes Lichtoun, and had,

ALEXANDER BURNET, of Leys, m. 1st, to Janet Hamilton, and 2ndly, to Marjory, dau. of 6th Lord Forbes, and widow of Forbes of Brux, who had charters of various lands in the cos. of Aberdeen and Kincardine, in the reign of Mary and James VI. He had, besides other issue: John, his ir; Thomas, parson of Methlick, and commissary of Aberdeen; Andrew, of Cowcardie; William of Slowie; and Alexander, of Kynneskie. The last three had issue. His eldest son and heir,

JOHN BURNET of Leys, m. Elizabeth, dau. of John Ramsden, of Cushnie, and was father of ALEXANDER BURNET of Leys, who m. Katherine, dau. of Robert Arbuthnot of Fiddes, and had six sons and three daus.: 1 Alexander, his heir; 2 Robert; 3 Thomas, physician at Braintree, m. Jane Foys; 4 Gilbert, professor of philosophy at the Universities of Basle and Montauban, author of a Treatise on Ethics, published at Leyden in 1649. I. Alexander, d. s. p.

II. THOMAS, his heir, and the 1st baronet.

III. James of Craigmyle, which estate he acquired by his marriage to Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Thomas Burnett, of Craigmyle. He figures much in local history, and is described in Gordon's Scots' Affairs, as, "a gentleman of great wisdome, and one who favoured the King, though he dwelt among the Covenanters, and was loved and respected by all." He had issue four sons and a dau.

1 Alexander of Craigmyle, who m. Christian, dau. of Thomas Fraser of Strichen, and was father of Sir Alexander of Craigmyle, knighted by Charles II, who d. 1694, leaving three daus.: Isabel, m. to John Farquharson of Invercauld; Anna; and Margaret, m. 1st to Sir Charles Maitland of Pittrichie, 2ndly to Thomas Erskine of Pittodrie.

2 Thomas of Kemnay, m. Margaret Pierson. He was father of Thomas of Kemnay, a man of considerable literary and political note, the friend and voluminous correspondent of Leibnitz, who resided at the Court of Hanover, and was employed by the Electress Sophia in many delicate negociations. The last named Thomas m. Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Brickenden, of Inkpen, co. Berks, and his son and heir, George of Kemnay, m. Helen, dau. of Sir Alexander Burnett of Leys, bart., and was father of Alexander of Kemnay, long British secretary of embassy, and afterwards chargé d'affaires, at the Court of Berlin John of Kemnay, m. 1814, Mary, dau. of Charles Stuart of Dunearn, (see EARL OF MORAY), and had, ALEXANDER, now of Kemnay; Charles-John; George, LL.D., Lyon King of-Arms, m. 1870, Alice, dau. of J.-A. The elder son, John-Alexander, m. 1877, Charlotte-Susan, dau. of Arthur Forbes-Gordon, Esq. of Rayne (see FORBES OF CRAIGIEVAR, Bart.), and has two sons, Arthur-Moubray and Charles, and a dau. Alexander, of Kemnay, has, by his 2nd wife, three sons and a dau.

3 James of Allagaven and Monboddo, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Robert Irvine of Monboddo, and was great-grandfather of the accomplished and eccentric judge, James Burnett, Lord Monboddo. The last descendant in the male line of this branch, Newell Burnett, grand nephew of Lord Monboddo, d. 1878. Lord Monboddo's dau. and heir, Helen m. Kirkpatrick Williamson, who assumed the surname of Burnett. Her grandson, James-Cumine Burnett of Monboddo, b. 1835, m. 12 Feb. 1863, Georgiana-Keith (who d. 5 March, 1897), and has a son James-Schank, b. 1868, and three daus.

4 Robert of Cowtoun, Muchalls and Criggie, who, by Helen Arbuthnot, his second wife, had three daus. and co-heirs: 1 Helen, m. to Sir Alexander Burnett of Leys, bart.; 2 Agnes, m. 1st to Thomas Burnett of Glenbervie, 2ndly to Sir William Nicolson of Glenbervie; 3 Jane, m. William, son of Sir Thomas Burnett, 3rd bart. of Leys.

III. Colum-Edmund, b. 3 April, 1886.

I. Margaret, b. 24 Dec. 1875.

Lineage.

John Steuart, the founder of this family, was a son of King Robert II. There is a tradition that his mother's name was Leitch. About the year 1385, the king erected the islands of Bute, Arane, and Cumbrae, with their pertinents, into a county, and conferred the office of hereditary sheriff thereof on John Steuart, his son, with a considerable grant of land. This grant was subsequently confirmed by King Robert III., by charter, dated 11 Nov. 1400. He m. Jean, dau. of Sir John Semple, of Eliotstoun, and had issue, James, his heir; William, ancestor of the Stewarts of Fennock; Robert; John; and Andrew, ancestor of the Stewarts of Rosland. The eldest son,

James Steuart, sheriff of Bute, appears to have been born in 1399, and s. his father in 1449. He m. and had issue, 1 Ninian, his heir; 2 James, of Kilcattan; 3 David of Achavolik; and 4 John. The eldest son,

Ninian Steuart, sheriff of Bute, b. in 1469, s. at his father's death, in 1477. He rebuilt the Donjon, or great tower of Rothesay Castle, by order of James IV. He m. 1st, a dau. of the house of Campbell, and had by her 1 James, his heir; 2 Robert, ancestor of the Stewarts of Ambrismore: 3 William, who appears to have d. s. p., and 4 Janet, m. to Ninian Bannatyne, of Kames, in Bute. Ninian Steuart, m. 2ndly, Janet, dau. of Constantine Dunlop, of that ilk, and by her had a son Archibald, ancestor of the Stewarts of Largilzane. He m. 3rdly, Elizabeth, dau. of John Blair, of Blair, and by her had, Alexander who d. s. p.; Ninian, of Nether Kilmory, Kildavanan, and Kilcattan, ancestor of the second family of Stewart of Kilcattan, of the Stewarts of Ascog, the Stewarts of Ballintoy, Antrim, and (probably) the Castlereagh family. The sheriff appears to have d. before 5 April, 1538, and was s. by his son,

James Steuart, sheriff and chamberlain of Bute, who suffered much during the struggle between the Earl of Lennox and the regent, Earl of Arran. He m. 1st, Lady Grissell Campbell, by whom he does not appear to have had any issue; and 2ndly, Marion, dau. of John Fairlie, of that ilk, and relict of Thomas Boyd, of Linn, brother of Thomas, Lord Boyd. By her he had two sons, John, his heir; and Robert, who d. s. p.; and one dau., m. to Alexander Stewart, of Kelspokes and Ballochmerton. James Steuart d. in 1570, and was s. by his son,

John Steuart, of Ardmoleish, sheriff of Bute, who attended the parliament at Edinburgh, 20 Oct. 1579, as commissioner for Buteshire. He m. 1st, Mary, dau. of John Campbell, of Skipnish, and had by her a son, John his successor. He m. 2ndly, Fynewald, dau. of Sir James M'Donald, of Duniveg, Isla, and Glenns, but by her (who was widow of Dugal Campbell, of Auchinbreck) he had no child. He m. 3rdly, Jean, dau of John Blair, of that ilk, and by her had a son, James, of Ardinho; and a dau. Grissell, m. to Ninian Stewart, of Kilchattan. The sheriff d. in 1612, and was s. by his son,

Sir John Stuart, Knt. of Ardmoleish, sheriff of Bute, who m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of Robert Hepburn, of Fuird, by whom (who m. 2ndly, Sir Alexander Foulis, of Collington) he acquired the estate of Fuird, with several other lands in the co. Haddington, and was s. by his son,

Sir James Stuart, of Ardmoleish, sheriff of Bute, who was created a Baronet of Nova Scotia in 1627; and adhering to the Royal cause during the civil wars, suffered considerably both by fines and sequestrations. Sir James m. in 1631, Grissell, dau. of Sir James Campbell, of Auchinbreck, and had, with other issue, Dugald, his successor.

Robert, of Tillicoultry, co. Clackmannan, one of the lords of session, who was created a Baronet, 29 April, 1707. Sir Robert represented the co. Bute in parliament, and was one of the commissioners for the treaty of Union, which he steadily supported. He resigned his gown in favour of his nephew, Dugald Stuart, of Blair Hall, in 1709.

Sir James d. in 1662, and was s. by his eldest son,

Sir Dugald, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Thomas Ruthven, of Dunglass, and granddau., maternally, of Alexander 1st Earl of Leven, by whom he had (besides daus.) two sons,

James, his successor.

Dugald, of Blairhall, who having applied himself to the study of the law, became soon so celebrated that he was appointed successor to his uncle, Lord Tillicoultry, as a lord of session and justiciary, in 1709. Dugald Stuart, d. in 1712, leaving a high character for honour, integrity, and ability. He m. Mary, dau. and heiress of John Bruce, of Blairhall, co. Perth, and had a numerous family.

Sir Dugald d. in 1672, and was s. by his elder son,

Sir James, who being of the privy council of Anne, and one of the commissioners appointed to treat of a union with England, in 1702, which did not then take effect, was elevated to the peerage of Scotland, 14 April, in the following year, by the titles of Earl of Bute, Viscount Kingarth, &

Lord Mount Stuart, Cumra, and Inchmarnock, to himself and to his heirs male whatever. In 1706, his lordship opposed the Union with all his might; and when he discovered that a majority of parliament was in favour of the measure, withdrew from the House, and retired to his country seat. He m. 1st, Agnes, eldest dau of Sir George Mackenzie, of Rosehaugh, lord advocate temp. JAMES VII.; and 2ndly, Christian, dau. of William Dundas, Esq. of Kincavel, and dying 4 June, 1710, was s. by the only son of his first marriage,

JAMES, 2nd earl; who, after the death of his maternal uncle, and much litigation, s. to the estate of Rosehaugh; representative peer 1715, lord-lieut. of co. Bute. His lordship m. Anne, dau. of Archibald, 1st Duke of Argyll, and by her (who m. 2ndly, 19 Sept. 1731, Alexander Fraser, of Stricken, co. Aberdeen, a lord of session, and d. 9 Oct. 1736) had (besides daus.) two sons, viz.,

JOHN, his successor.

James, who s. to his great-grandfather, Sir George Mackenzie's landed property, and assumed the additional surname of MACKENZIE. This gentleman, the representative of different Scottish shires in parliament, from 1742 to 1784, was constituted keeper of the privy seal of Scotland, 1763, and sworn of the privy council. He m. his cousin, Lady Elizabeth Campbell, 4th dau. of John, 2nd Duke of Argyll and Greenwich, but had no surviving issue. Her ladyship d. in 1799, and Mr. Steuart-Mackenzie d. within nine months afterwards, of grief. Leaving no male issue, the succession to the extensive estate of the right hon. gentleman in Scotland fell to be regulated by an entail executed by Sir George Mackenzie, 1689. Notwithstanding that he was the first lawyer of the age, Sir George's settlements were so ambiguously worded, that his estates were claimed by the Hon. James-Archibald Stuart-Wortley, next brother of the Marquess of Bute, and Lord Herbert-Windsor Stuart, second son of the marquess. The judgment of the Court of Session in Scotland in favour of Mr. Wortley was appealed to, and affirmed by, the House of Lords, 4 March, 1803.

James, 2nd Earl of Bute, d. 28 Jan. 1723, and was s. by his elder son, BYRON.

Byron, Baron (George-Frederick-William Byron), of Rochdale, co. Lancaster, lieut. West Essex militia, b. 27 Dec. 1855; educated at Harrow and Ch. Ch. Oxford; s. his uncle as 9th baron, 28 Nov. 1870.

Lineage.

Ralph de Buron, at the time of the Survey, held divers manors in Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire. Amongst those in the latter county was Horseley, in the park of which stood Horestan Castle, which became the chief seat of the early Byrons.

Sir John Byron, K.B., of Newstead, Notts.; m. Alice, dau. of Sir Nicholas Strelley, Knt., who was father of

Sir John Byron, K.B., of Newstead, living 1614, at Visitation of Notts, who m. Anne, eldest dau. of Sir Richard Molyneux, Bart., and had,

John, his successor.

Richard, of whom hereafter.

Robert (Sir), col. of Foot, on the royal side, and governor of Liverpool, m. Lucy, dau. of Thomas West, Lord Delawarr, and left (with other children, who d. s.p.) a dau. Cicely, who m. 1665, Charles Balfour, Esq. of Castle Balfour, co. Fermanagh, and had a dau., Lucy, m. 1st, Hugh McGill, Esq., and 2ndly, Blayney Townley, Esq. of Townley Hall.

Philip (Sir), who after many signal services in Yorkshire, was killed at the head of his regiment, in the general storm of York by the parliamentary army, in 1644.
Thomas (Sir), who commanded the Prince of Wales's regiment, at the battle of Hopton Heath, 19 March, 1642-3, and received a wound in the thigh, by which he was put hors de combat. He d. at Oxford, 9 Dec. 1643.

There were five other sons, and a dau., Mary, m. to Sir Thomas Lucas. Sir John was s. by his eldest son,

Sir John Byron, K.B., M.P. for the town of Nottingham, in the reign of James I., and for the co. Nottingham in that of Charles I., a faithful adherent of, and gallant officer under, the latter unfortunate prince. Sir John commanded the corps of reserve at the Battle of Edge Hill; and the victory of Roundaway Down, 5 July, 1643, wherein Sir William Waller was routed, was chiefly owing to his skill and valour, having, at the head of his regiment, charged Sir Arthur Hasilrigg's cuirassiers, and after a sharp conflict, in which Sir Arthur received many wounds, compelled that impenetrable regiment (as Lord Clarendon writes) to fly. Sir John Byron, having given such proofs of his courage, and his six valiant brothers at that time following his loyal example, he was, in consideration thereof, advanced, 24 Oct. 1643, to the dignity of a Baron of the realm, by the title of Lord Byron, of Rochdale, in the co. Palatine of Lancaster, with limitation, in default of his own male issue, to each of his brothers. His lordship m. 1st, Dame Cecilia Bindlosse, widow, dau. of Thomas, Lord Delewarr, she d. Feb. 1638; 2ndly, 1644, Eleanor, widow of Peter Warburton, of Arley, co. Chester, and dau. of Robert, Viscount Kilmorey, which lady d. 26 Jan. 1663. His lordship d. Aug. 1652, issueless, the barony devolved upon his brother,

Richard, 2nd baron. This nobleman received the honour of knighthood from Charles I. He was one of the valiant colonels at the battle of Edge Hill, and subsequently governor of Appulty Castle, co. Westmorland. Lloyd, who wrote the lives of the loyalists, says, he deserves to be chronicled for his government of Newark and many surprises of the enemy. His lordship m. 1st, Elizabeth, widow of Nicholas Strelley, and dau. of Gervase Rossell, Esq. of Ratcliffe, in Nottinghamshire; 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir George Booth, Bart.; and dying 4 Oct. 1679, was s. by his only surviving son,

William, 3rd baron, b. in 1636. This nobleman m. 1st, in 1660, Elizabeth, dau. of John, Viscount Chaworth, by whom (who d. 1683) he had issue; and 2ndly, 25 June, 1685, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir George Stonehouse, 3rd bart. of Radley, and widow of Sir Richard Stydolph, Bart. of Norbury, but by her (who d. 28 Dec. 1703) he had no issue. He d. 13 Nov. 1695, and was s. by his son,

William, 4th baron, b. 4 Jan. 1669; who m. 1st, Mary, dau. of John, 3rd Earl of Bridgewater, but by that lady (who d. 11 April, 1703) had no issue. He m. 2ndly, 19 Dec. 1706, Frances-Williamina, 3rd dau. of William, 1st Earl of Portland, by whom (who d. 31 March, 1712) he had three sons and one dau., all of whom d. unm.; and 3rdly, 3 Dec. 1720, Frances, 2nd dau. of William, Lord Berkeley of Stratton, and by her (who m. 2ndly, in 1740, Sir Thomas Hay, Bart.) had (with three younger sons),

I. William, his successor.

II. John, admiral R.N., b. 8 Nov 1723. This gentleman, when a midshipman on board the "Wager," one of Lord Anson's circumnavigating squadron, was cast away upon a desolate island in the South Seas, and after enduring five years of great hardships there (of which he published, 1768, a well-known Narrative), returned to England, 1748, and attained high rank in his gallant profession. He m. Sophia, dau. of John Trevannion, Esq. of Carhays, co. Cornwall; and dying 1786, left,

CAITHNESS.

Caithness, Earl of (Sir John-Sutherland Sinclair), and Lord Berriedale, in Scotland, Baronet of Nova Scotia, b. 17 Sept. 1857; s. his father as 17th earl, 1891.

Lineage.

The earldom of Caithness, originally embracing the northern part of Scotland from sea to sea, was, as far back as the 11th century, possessed by the Norse Earls of Orkney, who held the one earldom from the Scottish, the other from the Norwegian Crown. Early in the 13th century an outrage committed on the Bishop of Caithness led to the severance of Sutherland from the earldom of Caithness. Soon afterwards the earldom passed by female succession to a branch of the family of Gillebride, Earl of Angus, and later to the Earls of Strathern. In 1375 it was resigned to the Crown, and bestowed on David Stewart, eldest son by his second marriage of Robert II., whose dau., Countess Euphemia, resigned it in favour of her uncle, Walter Stewart, attainted in 1437. Sir George Crichton, of Cairnes, had a grant of the earldom in 1452, but resigned it to the Crown.

William Sinclair, or St. Clair, Earl of Orkney and Chancellor of Scotland (for whose paternal descent see Sinclair, Lord), had the earldom of Caithness bestowed on him on 28 Aug. 1455, in compensation of a claim which he had to the lordship of Nithsdale. Orkney having been surrendered to the Scottish Crown at the marriage of James III., he was induced to resign the earldom of Orkney to the King, getting in its place the castle of Ravenscraig in Fife, and adjoining lands. He lived in almost regal splendour at his castle of Rosslyn, in Lothian, and founded the collegiate church known as Rosslyn Chapel. He m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Archibald, 4th Earl in Douglas, and widow of John Stewart, Earl of Buchan, and of Sir Thomas Stewart, natural son of Alexander, Earl of Mar, by whom he had issue,

I William, ancestor of the Lords Sinclair (see that title).
I. Katherine, m. Alexander Stewart, Duke of Albany, son of James II., which marriage was dissolved 1478.

He m. 2ndly, Marjory, dau. of Alexander Sutherland, of Dunbeath, by whom he had (with daus., Eleanor, m. to John Stewart, Earl of Athole; Marian, m. to Sir John Houstoun of that ilk; Margaret, m. to David Boswell, of Balmuto; and Marjory, m. to Andrew, Master of Rothes), five sons,

II. William, his successor in the Earldom of Caithness.
III. Sir Oliver, of Rosslyn, ancestor of the Sinclairs of Rosslyn.
IV. Sir David, of Swinbrugh.
V. Robert.
VI. John, Bishop nominate of Caithness.

In supersession of the son by the first marriage, the earldom passed to

William, 2nd Earl of Caithness, eldest son of the second marriage, who had obtained a crown charter of the earldom on his father's resignation in 1476. By Mary his wife, dau. of Sir William Keith, of Inverugie, he had,

I. John, his successor.
II. Alexander Sinclair, of Dunbeath and Stemster, who, by Elizabeth Innes, his wife, had two sons, William and Oliver, and a dau., Isabel, m. to Gilbert Gordon, of Gorty. His son William was twice married, and had five sons, William, of Stemster; Richard, of Brims; George; Henry, of Brabster; and David, of Thura. The male issue of this line seems to be extinct.

The 2nd earl fell at Flodden, 9 Sept. 1513, and was s. by his son,

He m. 2ndly, 4 Oct. 1893, Annie-Augusta, dau. of Robert-Henry Mitford, Esq., of Weston Lodge, Hampstead, and widow of Walter James, Esq., of Elvaston Hall, Ryton-on-Tyne.

Lineage.

SIR JOHN CAMPBELL, of Lawers, co. Perth, grandson of John Campbell, of Lawers, younger son of Sir Colin Campbell, first of Glenorchy, m. his cousin Beatrix, dau. of Sir Colin Campbell, of Glenorchy, and had three sons,

I. Sir James Campbell, of Lawers, father of John, Earl of Loudoun, Lord High Chancellor of Scotland; he is represented as heir general by the Earl of Loudoun and as heir male by Sir James Campbell, of Aberuchill, Bart.
II. COLIN CAMPBELL, of Aberuchill.
III. Archibald Campbell, Prior of Strathfillan.

In 1594, Sir John acquired Aberuchill, and other lands, from the family of Moray, of Abercairny, and the following year resigned them in favour of his second son,

COLIN CAMPBELL, of Aberuchill, who had a crown charter of confirmation in that estate, 12 July, 1596, and acquired Craiginch, Leonards, and other lands. In 1612, Archibald, Earl of Argyll, justice general of Scotland, granted a commission to "my lovit Colin Campbell, of Aberuchill," to apprehend or pursue to the death all persons of "that most unhappie and barbarous raice of the name of M'Gregor," His Majesty's rebels. An Act of parliament, 1617, against the clan Gregor, mentions depredations committed by them on the estate of Aberuchill. Colin Campbell had issue by his wife, who appears to have been a dau. of the family of Colville,

I. JAMES.
II. John of Foordie, a member of the committee of war, 1647, d. in or before 1683, leaving issue, Mary, m. Henry Stewart, advocate, 4th son of Sir William Stewart, of Grandtally; from this marriage descends Sir Archibald-D. Stewart, Bart.

He was s. in 1618 by his eldest son,

JAMES CAMPBELL, of Aberuchill, a firm adherent of the royal cause. He m. Ann, dau. of Patrick Hepburn, of Woolling, and Janet Napier, his wife and dying in November, 1640, was s. by his son,

I. COLIN CAMPBELL, of Aberuchill, then a minor, who became a lawyer and politician of note, and held the various high appointments of sheriff depute of Argyllshire 1668; senator of the college of justice under the title of Lord Aberuchill 1689; lord of justiciary and privy councillor 1690. He represented the co. of Perth in parliament from 1690 to 1702. In 1669 Sir Colin acquired the barony of Kilbryde, with its fine old castle, the seat of the earls of Menteith, still the property of his representative. A crown charter a few months later erected all his lands into one free barony, holding direct of the king, to be called Aberuchill, and made Inneruchill into a burgh of barony. Lord Aberuchill suffered losses amounting to £17,201 Scots from the Highland army, under Lord Dundee, and had an Act of parliament granting him compensation, which he appears never to have received. The precise date at which the baronetcy was conferred cannot now be ascertained, as the patent is lost, and was, like many others, in favour of gentlemen on whom the baronetcy of Nova Scot was conferred about this period, never registered: it appear however, to have been between 23 Jan. 1667, and 16 May, 166 and the baronet's arms appear no less than four times fro 1672 to 1703 in the Lyon Register, in each instance with th title and the Nova Scotia badge. Sir Colin m. 1st, Margare dau. of Alexander Foulis, Esq. of Ratho, and had one son,

John-Valentine, b. 6 Feb. 1892.
Audrey, b. 1 July, 1897.

Lineage.

The name of Carden is local, being derived from the township of Cawarden, Carwarden, or Carden, which lies about eleven miles S.S.E. from Chester. The elder branch of the family terminating in co-heiresses, the manor of Over-Carden was carried by marriage into the family of Felton. A branch had been settled in Kent, where it appears it was for several generations possessed of the manor of Hodiford ; but that estate was alienated temp. Elizabeth, by John Carden, to the Cobbes, when there is reason to believe that the Cardens of Kent removed into Lincolnshire, and that from them diverged the Irish branch.

John Carden, Esq., who settled at Templemore, co. Tipperary, about the year 1650, m. Priscilla Kent, by whom he had two sons, John, his successor ; and William, of Lismore, who m. Gertrude, dau. of Warburton, of Garryhinch, Queen's Co. and had issue. Lineage.

The Carews are one of the few families now remaining which can trace their descent, without interruption, from the Anglo-Saxon period of English history.

OTHO, a powerful English baron, in the time of EDWARD THE CONFESSOR, was s. by his son,

WALTER FITZ-OTHO, castellan of Windsor, who had two sons; from William, the younger, the Lords Windsor descended; from the elder,

GERALD, sprung the Carews and Fitzgeralds: he was cas- tellan of Pembroke Castle, and in great favour with HENRY I., from whom he received the lordship of Mulsford, in Berks. By Nesta, his wife, dau. of Rhys ap Tudor Mawr, King of South Wales, whose dower was the castle of Carew, he had three sons, MAURICE, WILLIAM, and DAVID; from Maurice, the eldest, descended the FITZGERALDS, Dukes of Leinster. The second son,

William, of Carru Castle, co. Pembroke, d. in 1173, leaving, with two other sons (Raymond, ancestor of the Earls Kerry, Marquesses of Lansdowne, and William, ancestor of the Gerards),

Otho, from whom the 5th in lineal descent was

Sir Nicholas Carew, Baron of Carew and Mulsford, a person of eminence, temp. Edward I., who was s. by his son,

Sir John Carew, father of

Sir John Carew, who was constituted lord deputy of Ireland, and served Edward III. at the battle of Crecy. He m. Margaret, dau. of John, Lord Mohun, of Dunster, and was s. by his son,

Sir Leonard Carew, Knt., whose son,

Sir John Carew, attained high distinction in the wars of Henry V., and was s. by his son,

Sir Nicholas Carew, Knt., Lord of Carew; who m. Joan, dau. of Sir Hugh Courtenay, of Haccombe, co. Devon, by Philippa, dau. and co.-heir of Sir William Arcedecan, and had five sons and three daus. Sir Thomas, the eldest son, happening to disoblige his mother, that lady settled seventeen manors upon her younger sons, which proved the foundation of three great families, which have flourished ever since. These sons were,

I. Thomas (Sir), Knt. of Mohun's Ottery, ancestor of Carew of Mohun's Ottery, Carew, of Bickleigh, and Carew, Earl of Totness (See Burke's Extinct and Dormant Peerages).
II. Nicholas, of whom hereafter.
III. Hugh, to whom his mother gave Lynham, and other manors in co. Devon, d. s. p., when his manors passed to his brother Nicholas.
IV. Alexander, ancestor of Carew of Antony (see Burke's Landed Gentry).
V. Wiamill (Sir), ancestor of Carew of Carew Castle, and Crowcombe (see Burke's Landed Gentry).

The second son,

Sir Nicholas Carew, Knt. of Haccombe, obtained that manor and those of Ringmore and Milton, co. Devon, from his mother. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Croker, Knt. of Lydeard (St. Lawrence), co. Somerset, and widow of John Seymour, Esq. of Bury Pomeroy, and d. 13 Sept. 1469, leaving a son,

John Carew, Esq. of Haccombe, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of John, Lord Zouche, of Harringworth, and had John, his successor; Thomas; Elizabeth; and Joan. The eldest son,

John Carew, Esq. of Haccombe, was a commander in the army sent to Italy by Francis I., King of France, and Henry VIII., King of England and Ireland, to rescue Pope Clement VII., imprisoned by Charles V., Emperor of Germany; m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Martin, Knt. of Dorset, and had issue, Thomas, his successor; Henry; Mary; Christiana. He d. 1528, and was s. by his eldest son,

Thomas Carew, Esq. of Haccombe (Visit. Devon), who m. Mary, dau. of William Huddie, Esq. of Pillesdon, co. Dorset, and had (with six daus., Katherine, Dorothy, Barbara, Mary, Margaret, and Joane) three sons,

I. William, d. s. p. before 1620.
II. Peter, d. s. p. before 1620.
III. John, who carried on the line.

Mr. Carew d. March, 1586, aged 68. His two elder sons dying s. p., the estates eventually devolved on his 3rd son,

John Carew, Esq. of Haccombe, who m. Elizabeth, dau of Robert Hill, Esq. of Shilston, co. Dorset, by whom (who d. Ascension Day, 1611) he had a dau., Ursula, aged 14 in 1620, and five sons,

I. Thomas, his heir.

Lineage.

This ancient surname is territorial, and was assumed by the family as lords of the Barony of Carmichael, in the Upper Ward of Lanarkshire.

SIR JOHN DE CARMYCHEL had charters between 1386 and 1388, from James, Earl of Douglas and Mar, of the barony of Carmichael, and circa 1385, from his cousin, Sir James Sandilands of Calder (son-in-law of King ROBERT II.), of a portion of the barony of Wiston, confirmed by ROBERT II. 8 May, 1387 (Cleghorn Ch. Chest). He m. a dau. of Sir Andrew Wardlaw of Torrie (sister of Henry Wardlaw, Bishop of St. Andrews), and by her had two sons,

WILLIAM, who s. his father in the lands of Carmichael and Wiston. The last of the eldest line who possessed Carmichael, Sir John of that ilk, heir, 1619, of his father, Sir Hugh, Ambassador to Denmark, and, 1627, of his grandfather, Sir John, Warden of the Middle Marches, d. before 17 July, 1649. The estates had passed in his lifetime to Sir James, afterwards 1st Lord Carmichael, representative of the Carmichaels of Hyndford, which family became extinct on the death, in 1817, of Andrew, 6th Earl of Hyndford, 7th Lord Carmichael, and 7th bart. JOHN.

The 2nd son,

JOHN CARMICHAEL, was provost and constable of St. Andrews, and obtained the lands of Greenhill (1417) and Meadowflat (1420), in Lanarkshire, under charters from Sir James Sandilands of Calder, and Sir John Lindsay of Covington. He had two sons, WILLIAM, heritable captain of the Castle of Crawford, ancestor of the Carmichaels of Meadowflat, heritable baillies of the barony of Crawfordmuir, extinct in the male line before 18 April, 1638, when Margaret Carmichael was served heir of Sir John Carmichael of Meadowflat, Knt., her brother, and 24 May, 1638, when she was heir of her father, John, of Meadowflat, who, in 1595, had been retoured heir to his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather in the custody of the castle of Crawford Douglas and office of baillie of the barony thereof. JOHN.

The 2nd son,

JOHN CARMICHAEL, witness, as "Johannes Carmychell de Balmathie," 20 Dec. 1477, to a charter of Archibald, 5th Earl of Angus (Reg. Mag. Sig.), m. circa 1477, Isabel, dau. of Sir John Sibbald of Balgonie, and widow of George, 4th Earl of Angus, mother (by her first husband) of the celebrated Archibald, 5th Earl of Angus (called "Bell the Cat"), and ancestress of Henry, Lord Darnley. "So that of this ancient family of Sibbald of Balgonie," says Nisbet, "not only the Royal Family of Great Britain are descended, but most of all the crowned heads in Europe who have intermarried with that serene house." By this alliance John Carmichael acquired the lands of Balmedie, Craigpottie, and Dron, in the cos. of Fife and Perth, together with the office of heritable baillie of the regality of Abernethy, which was held by the Carmichaels of Balmedie until the abolition of heritable jurisdictions in 17[illegible]. By the Countess of Angus (who d. ante 21 Feb. 14[illegible] Balmedie Ch. Chest), John Carmichael (who d. bef[illegible] 20 Feb. 1489-90) had two sons, styled in the Acts of [illegible] Lords Auditors, and in charters of Earl Archibald, "broth[illegible] to the Earl of Angus," viz., PETER, of Craigpottie, sheriff[illegible] Forfar (styled "Avunculus" by Bishop Gawain Douglas, [illegible] his will) to whom, and to Euphemia Wemyss, his spou[illegible] charters (Gask Ch. Chest) were granted, 1528, of the lands [illegible] Craigpottie, Earlsmuir, Dron, &c., by Archibald, Earl [illegible] Angus, and John Balmanno of that ilk, and

JAMES CARMICHAEL of Balmedie, who was sheriff of Lanarkshire 1495-9, with William Carmichael of that ilk, and Jan[illegible] Symontoun. He m. Elizabeth, heiress of Folkart of Folk[illegible] ton, co. Lanark, to whom the lands of Folkarton were c[illegible] firmed, 20 Oct. 1495, by Robert, Abbot of Kelso (as they h[illegible] been confirmed to her ancestor, Richard, son of Solph [illegible] Folcardistun, by Abbot Henry, circa 1208), and had,

JAMES CARMICHAEL, who m. Margaret, dau. of Kincrai[illegible] of that ilk, and had two sons,

PETER CARMICHAEL of Balmedie, forfeited, 1546, with N[illegible] man Leslie, for participation in the capture of the Castle[illegible] St. Andrews, and slaughter of Cardinal Beaton. He w[illegible] afterwards in the galleys with John Knox, and was i[illegible] prisoned in Mont St. Michel with the Master of Roth[illegible] Kirkcaldy of Grange, and others, but escaped with Gran[illegible] disguised as a professional mendicant, returned to Scotlan[illegible] and d. s. p. m. He had Ch., 1542, of the lands of Whelph[illegible] Lanarkshire, which had belonged to his late father (R. Sec. Sig.). DAVID.

Lineage.

Thomas de Dalzell was one of the great barons who swore fealty to King Edward I. in 1296, and one of the worthy patriots that joined Robert Bruce.

Sir Robert de Dalzell, Knt., obtained from King David II. grants of the serjeantship of Lanark, on the resignation of Andrew Starheved, and of the lands of Croykstoune, co. Peebles. He had from the same monarch a charter, "dilecto et fideli nostro Roberto de Dalzell militi, pro homagio et servicio suo, omnes terras nostras de Selkyrk, cum pertinenciis, exceptis annuis redditibus nostris et firmis nostris de burgo nostro de Selkyrk," to him and the legitimate heirs male of his body, 15 May, 1365. He was one of the Scottish barons who were surety to Haco, King of Norway, that Henry Sinclair, Earl of Orkney, should faithfully govern the islands of Orkney. In 1380, he was sent over to Norway by the said earl, and d. the same year, immediately after his return.

Sir William de Dalzell, a gallant knight, obtained from King David II., 13 Aug. 1364, a grant of the fee of five pounds sterling per annum as serjeant of Lanark, either out of Sheriff Court or the Justice-air held there. In 1388, Sir William de Dalzell lost an eye at the battle of Otterburn, and, in 1390, accompanied Sir David Lindsay, of Glenesk (afterwards Earl of Crawford) to the famous tournament at London. He recovered the estate of his ancestors, as "William de Dalzell, dominus ejusdem," and is witness to a charter of Johanna de Keith, Lady of Gallystoun, to her son, Andrew de Hamyltoun, 11 Dec. 1406. His elder son,

George de Dalzell, obtained, on the resignation of James Sandilands, brother-in-law of King Robert III., a charter of the barony of Dalzell, in the county of Lanark, to him and the heirs male of his body, which failing, to the heirs male of his father Sir William de Dalzell, 5 July, 1395. He d. s. p. before 1400, and was s. by his brother,

Sir John de Dalzell, who had a letter of safe-conduct to pass into England, with four other knights, and sixty horse in their train, to treat about national business, 24 July, 1392. He had a charter of the lands of Kinmouth, Bouchtains, and half of Clune, in the county of Banff, from King Robert III., on the resignation of Alexander Keith. The same monarch granted to him St. Leonard's Hospital, near Lanark, with the whole lands and revenues thereto belonging, upon condition that he and his heirs should provide a qualified person to celebrate three masses once in every seven years, for the salvation of the souls of his Majesty, Annabella his queen, and all their children for ever. The charter is dated 3 June, 1400, with remainder to Walter, Adam, and Robert de Dalzell, his sons, and the heirs male of their bodies respectively ; and is confirmed by King James II., 19 Feb. 1449-50, by which time Sir John Dalzell was dead, he being designed "quondam" in the confirmation.

Walter de Dalzell, the eldest son, was designed "of Carlourie."

Adam de Dalzell, the 2nd son, is designed "of Eliotstoun," in a charter of 1426.

ROBERT DE DALZELL is designed "of Dalzell," in a charter to Walter Graham, of Walaystoun, 31 Dec. 1450.

PETER DE DALZELL made a resignation of St. Leonard's Hospital, near Lanark, in favour of John Stewart, of Craigie, who obtained a charter thereof 21 April, 1465.

ROBERT DALZELL, of that ilk, appears on record 1484-1490, and on or before 1495 was s. by his son, WILLIAM DALZELL, of that ilk, who was slain in a skirmish between Lords Maxwell and Crighton, in 1508.

ROBERT DALZELL, of that ilk, appears on record 1511, and d. April, 1552. He m. Christian, dau. of John Dundas of Newliston, by whom he had issue,

The earl was s. by his elder son,

ROBERT, 2nd earl, who had, in his father's lifetime, two charters of the Barony and Lordship of Carnwath, &c., to Robert, master of Dalzell, 14 June, 1634, and 11 July, 1635. He s. to the title in 1639, and was, with five other earls, accused of having written a letter to the Queen from Derby, informing her of the design of the Scots to arm against the King; for which they were summoned before the Convention of Estates, June, 1643. The whole obeyed the summons, with the exception of the Earl of Carnwath, who retired into England. He was decreed 24 June, 1643, to have incurred the penalty of £10,000 Scots, for his contumacy in not entering his person in prison, upon some words spoken by him to His Majesty, wherewith the Estates were dissatisfied; and decreet of forfeiture was passed against him, 25 Feb. 1645. He was at the battle of Naseby, 14 June, 1645; and to him Lord Clarendon imputes the loss of that action. He m. 1st, Christian, dau. of Sir William Douglas, of Hawick (see QUEENSBERRY, M.), by whom he had two sons,

V. Emily, b. 27 Dec. 1868.
VI. Eva, b. 12 May, 1874.

Lineage.

The antiquity of this family in Scotland is attested by the fact that RAINALDUS DE KETHCART appears a subscribing witness to a grant by Alan, the son of Walter Dapifer Regis, of the patronage of the church of Cathcart to the monastery of Paisley, in the year 1178.

SIR ALAN CATHCART, Knt., was at the battle of Loudoun Hill in 1307, and is thus recorded:—

"A knight that then was in his rout,
Worthy and witht, stalward and stout,
Courteous and fair, and of good fame,
Sir Alan Cathcart was his name."

Lord Hailes observes, in reference to these lines, that it is pleasant to trace a family likeness in an ancient picture. Sir Alan m. a sister of Sir Duncan Wallace, of Sundrum, and was s. by his son.

ALAN DE KATHKERT, whose great-grandson,

SIR ALAN CATHCART, Knt. was made a Lord of Parliament as Lord Cathcart about 1460. His lordship, who was warden of the West Marches, m. Janet Maxwell, and was s. some time before 12 Aug. 1499, by his grandson, Constance-Elizabeth, m. 10 Feb. 1880, Uchter-John-Mark, 5th Earl of Ranfurly.

Lineage.

This noble family springs from the co. of Oxford. the reign of ELIZABETH,

SIR TOBY CAULFEILD (bapt. at Great Milton, near Oxford, 2 Dec. 1565, the son of Alexander Caulfeild, of Great Milton), a distinguished and gallant soldier, was employed by her majesty in Ireland, against the formidable O'Neill, Earl of Tyrone. In 1615, Sir Toby was appointed one of the council for the province of Munster; and, the next year, joined in commission with the Lord Deputy St. John and others, for parcelling out the escheated lands in Ulster, to such British undertakers as were named in the several tables of assignation. In these employments, the King (JAMES I.) found him so faithful, diligent, and prudent, that his majesty deemed him highly deserving the peerage of Ireland, and accordingly (by patent, which stated that he was "generosâ et per antiquâ stirpe oriundus") created him, 22 Dec. 1620, Lord Caulfeild, Baron Charlemont, with limitation of the honour to his nephew, Sir William Caulfeild, Knt., son of George Caulfeild, Esq.. M.P., by Martha his wife, dau. of Richard Taverner, of Wood Eaton. His lordship d. a bachelor, 17 Aug. 1627, and was s. by the said

SIR WILLIAM CAULFEILD, as 2nd baron Charlemont. This nobleman took his seat in parliament, 4 Nov. 1634, after the lord chancellor had moved to know the pleasure of the House, whether he should be admitted to this place, having brought neither writ of summons nor patent; whereupon it was resolved that his lordship should be admitted, inasmuch as they were all satisfied that he was a lord of parliament. His lordship m. Mary, dau. of Sir John King, Knt. (ancestor of the Earls of Kingston), by whom (who d. 1663) he had seven sons and three daus. Lord Charlemont was s. at his decease, in 1640, by his eldest son,

TOBY, 3rd baron, who also s. the late lord as governor of the fort of Charlemont, and there resided, with his company of foot, in garrison. This fort was a place of considerable strength and importance during the rebellion of 1641; but his lordship suffered himself to be surprised, 22 Oct. in that year; and being made prisoner, with his whole family, was subsequently put to death by the orders, it is said, of Sir Phelim O'Neile. This unfortunate nobleman dying unm., was s. by his brother,

ROBERT, 4th baron, who d. a few months afterwards, from the effects of an over-dose of opium, when the barony devolved upon his brother,

WILLIAM, 5th baron. This nobleman apprehended Sir Phelim O'Neile, and had him executed for the murder of his brother. His lordship having filled, after the Restoration, several high and confidential situations, was advanced to a viscounty, as Viscount Charlemont, 8 Oct. 1665. He m. Sarah, 2nd dau. of Charles, Viscount Drogheda, by whom he had four sons and three daus., of whom,

I. WILLIAM (the 2nd, but eldest surviving son), s. as 2nd viscount.

CLANRICARDE.

CLANRICARDE, MARQUESS AND EARL OF (Hubert-George de Burgh-Canning), Viscount Burke of Clanmoriess, co. Mayo, and Baron Dunkellin, co. Galway, also Earl of Clanricarde, in the county of Galway, in Ireland; Baron Somerhill, of Somerhill, co. Kent, in the United Kingdom, D.L. co. Galway, b. 30 Nov. 1832; s. his father as 15th earl 1874; assumed by royal licence July, 1862, in compliance with the testamentary injunction of his maternal uncle, Earl Canning, the surname of CANNING in addition to and after that of DE BURGH, and the arms of Canning and De Burgh quarterly. His lordship, formerly in the Diplomatic Service, represented the co. of Galway in Parliament from Sept. 1867, to Feb. 1871.

Lineage.

The family of De Burgh, De Burgo, Burke, or Bourke (as at different times written), Earls and Marquesses of Clanricarde, ranks amongst the most distinguished in the kingdom, and deduces an uninterrupted line of powerful nobles from the Anglo-Norman Conquest of Ireland.

WILLIAM FITZ-ADELM was sent by HENRY II., with Hugh de Lacie, into Ireland, to receive the submission of Roderick O'Conor, King of Connaught, and of O'Meleaghlin, King of Meath, and founded there, according to Sir Richard Cox, "one of the best and noblest families, which has yielded many brave and worthy men, that have proved eminently serviceable to their king and country, whereby the name, estate, and family are preserved, in great honour and reputation, to this day." This William, who was made governor of Wexford, was entrusted, on the king's return to England, with the management of his affairs in Ireland. In 1175, in a synod of the bishops and clergy at Waterford, he published the bull, and the privileges granted by POPE ALEXANDER III., in confirmation of the bull of ADRIAN IV., constituting the king Lord of Ireland. In 1179, he obtained by grant, a great part of the province of Connaught. He d. in 1204, and was s. by his son,

RICHARD DE BURGH, surnamed The great Lord of Connaught, who was lord-lieutenant of Ireland in 1227. This Richard built the castle of Galway in 1232, and that of Loughrea in 1236. He was a man of high authority and power, and d. on his passage to France, in Jan. 1243, in proceeding to meet the King of England at Bordeaux, attended "by his barons and knights." He m. Hodierna, dau. of Robert de Gernon, and granddau., maternally, of Cahill Crovderg, or The Red Hand, King of Connaught, and had two sons, viz.,

I. WALTER, Lord of Connaught, who, marrying MAUD, dau. and heir of Hugh de Lacie, the younger, became in her right, EARL OF ULSTER, on the death of his father-in-law. He was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD, 2nd Earl of Ulster, usually called The Red Ear whose great-granddau., LADY ELIZABETH DE BURGH, only child and heiress of William, 3rd Earl of Ulster, m. LIONEL, of Antwerp, Duke of Clarence, 3rd son of EDWARD III., who became, in consequence, 4th Earl of Ulster, and Lord of Connaught, and had, by the heiress of De Burgh, an only dau., Philippa, wife of EDWARD MORTIMER, 3rd Earl of March, and jure uxoris, 5th Earl of Ulster, ancestor, through his granddau., the LADY ANNE MORTIMER, wife of Richard Plantagenet, Earl of Cambridge, of EDWARD IV., King of England.

II. WILLIAM.

The 2nd son of Richard de Burgh, Lord of Connaught,

WILLIAM DE BURGH, is known by the surname of Athankip, from being put to death at that place by the King of Connaught. He was s. by his son,

Lineage.

This family, originally called Meagh, Miagh, and Myagh, have been for centuries settled in the co. and city of Cork, and have been landed proprietors from the earliest mention of the name. In the Pipe Rolls of 23 to 26 Edward I. (1294-97), Gerald Miagh, of Ballyathe, co. Cork, appears. In the Plea Rolls of 19 Edward II. (1325), Maurice, son of Henry Meagh, appears, and in the 22 Edward III. (1348), John Myagh was seized of the Grange, Rathinstully, and other lands in the same co., and Philip Myagh was his son and heir.

John Miagh, called in Chancery Bills in Ireland "the great John Miagh," was seized in fee of the fishery weir of Lochmacen, in the Haven of Cork. His son,

John Miagh, called "the younger," appears by proceedings held before the mayor of Cork, in 1488, to have been possessed of the weir, and was s. by his son,

William Miagh, who is also stated in the proceedings in 1488 to have been the owner of the same weir, and to have transmitted it to his son and heir,

John Miagh, who was adjudged by a decree or deed of arbitration before Maurice Roche, mayor of Cork, and others 12 Sept. 4 Henry VII. (1488), the weir in the Harbour of Cork, as heir of his father and grandfather. He was s. by his son and heir,

William Meagh, who is recorded in a Chancery Bill, 4 July, 2 Queen Elizabeth, to have been also possessed of the same weir, by descent from "the great John Miagh," and to have been s. by his son and heir,

John Meagh, Miagh, or Meade, who was plaintiff in the above Chancery Bill of 2 Queen Elizabeth. He was elected M.P. for the city of Cork, 1559, and again 1585. He was Recorder of Cork, the Queen's Attorney for Munster, and was appointed by patent dated 15 Dec. 1570, Second Justice of the province of Munster. He obtained leases from the Queen, dated 18 April, 1584, and 24 July, 1586, of Carrigneenar and other lands in co. Cork. He was dead in 1589, and was s. by his son,

John Meade, of Ballintubber and of the city of Cork. On 22 Feb. 1611, he made a deed of settlement of his estates, in contemplation of the marriage of his eldest son, and in the same deed he provided a jointure for his wife Eleanor. He was s. by his son, His lordship was M.P. for North Devon, 18 He is the eldest co-heir of the ancient Baro Say, which has remained in abeyance for s centuries. When Sir James Fienes obtaine Barony of Say and Sele, by creation, 1447, the 5th and then Baron Clinton, great-grandso representative of Idonea Say, relinquished all to the barony and arms of Say; but how far accession affects his descendants, has not determined. According, however, to the celeb resolution of the House of Lords, 18 June, "that no fine now levied, nor at any time here to be levied, to the king, can bar such tit honour, or the right of any person claiming title under him that levied, or shall levy, such it would appear that it did not prejudice hereditary right. The present Lord Clinton h royal licence, dated 4 Sept. 1867, taken the names of HEPBURN-STUART-FORBES in additio that of TREFUSIS, and the arms of Stuart and F quarterly with those of Trefusis.

His lordship s. his father as 4th BARON LYTTELT 18 April, 1876, and became VISCOUNT COBHAM the decease of the Duke of Buckingham a Chandos, 26 March, 1889.

Lineage.

The family of Lyttelton has been of long standing in co. of Worcester, and had considerable possessions in Evesham, particularly at South Lyttelton (whence ıe has probably been assumed) in the beginning of ı century.

AS DE LUTTELTON, circa 19, HENRY III., m. only dau. and heir of Sir Simon de Frankley, ›y whom he had an only dau. Emma, who m. s de Tatlynton. Thomas de Luttelton m. 2ndly, , dau. and heir of William Fitzwarren, of Upton, rcester, one of the justices-itinerant and judge ommon Pleas, 12th HENRY III., and sheriff of ershire the following year, by whom he left three He was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

ND DE LUTTELTON, who resided at Coulesdon, and ds at Naunton, in Worcestershire. His youngest y surviving brother,

AS DE LUTTELTON, represented the co. of Worcester ıment from 9th EDWARD II. to the 34th EDW. III., s s. at his decease by his eldest son,

AS DE LUTTELTON, who recovered the manor of y, by a writ of right, on failure of issue to his Thomas de Tatlynton. This Thomas de Luttelton uire of the body to three successive kings, namely, D II., HENRY IV., and HENRY V. He d. 1st VI., and left an only dau. and heiress, ıBETH DE LUTTELTON, who m. Thomas Westcote, he king's servant in court, a gentleman of Devon- nciently descended; but she being fair, and of noble (to use the phraseology of Lord Coke), and having ossessions and inheritances from her ancestors, De on, and from her mother, the dau. and co-heir of main, and other ancestors, resolved to continue the of her name, and therefore provided, by Westcote's before marriage, that her issue inheritable should d by the name of LUTTELTON. Upon this marriage, stcote settled at Frankley, and served the office of or of Worcester, 29th HENRY VI., 1450; soon after he died, leaving four sons and as many daus., and by his eldest son,

IAS LUTTELTON or Lyttelton (as he began to write o, having been brought up to the bar, was called, , to the degree of serjeant-at-law, and in the fol- year was nominated king's serjeant. In 1464 (4th D IV.), Mr. Serjeant Lyttelton was appointed judge court of Common Pleas, and in the 15th year of the nonarch, created K.B. Sir Thomas wrote his cele- Treatise on Tenures after he had ascended the bench. homas Lyttelton m. Joan, widow of Sir Philip ind, of Ingestrie, and dau. and co-heir of Sir William , Knt. of Bromscroft Castle, Shropshire, by whom . JOHN LYTTELTON, Esq., M.P. for the co. Worcester, temp. ELIZABETH. This gentleman (to use the words of Sir Francis Bacon) being much respected for his wit and valour, and a Roman catholic, was courted by Lord Essex and his friends; and in some measure drawn in by Sir Charles Danvers to that conspiracy which cost Essex his head, and Lyttelton his estate: for he was tried and convicted of high treason at the Queen's Bench bar, 20 Feb. 1600-1, and died in prison in the July following (the execution of the penalty regarding life being averted through the interest of Sir Walter Raleigh). Mr. Lyttelton m. Muriel, dau. of Sir Thomas Bromley, Knt., and left issue, three sons and five daus. Mrs. Lyttelton obtained, upon the accession of JAMES I., a reversal of the attainder of her husband, and a grant, by letters patent, of the whole of his estate. She was a person of great prudence, and discharged debts contracted by her husband and his father, to the amount of £9000, although she was remarkable for benevolence and hospitality. This lady survived Mr. Lyttelton twenty-eight years, and brought up her children in the reformed religion. The eldest son,

SIR THOMAS LYTTELTON, Knt., represented the co. Worcester in parliament, and served the office of sheriff of that shire in 1613. He was created a Baronet 25 July, 1618. This gentleman was an active adherent of royalty during the civil wars, and suffered imprisonment in the Tower in consequence. Dorothea-Helen-Mary-Elizabeth-Sutherland, b. 28 Sept. 1885.

Lineage.

UMFRIDUS DE KILPATRIK, in the reign of ALEXANDER II. acquired from Maldowin, Earl of Lennox, the lands of Culchone or Colquhoun, within that earldom, and he and his descendants adopted the name of the lands as their surname. HUMPHREY of Colquhoun, representative of the family in the reign of ROBERT BRUCE, had charters of Colquhoun and of Sauchy from that king.

SIR ROBERT OF COLQUHOUN, in the reign of DAVID II. owned, besides Colquhoun, the lands of Luss, which he is supposed to have acquired by marriage with the heiress of the family of Luss of that ilk. He had, with other issue,

HUMPHREY, his heir.
Robert, who, in 1395, acquired from his brother Camstradden, in Dumbartonshire, and was ancestor of the most considerable cadet line. Seventeenth in descent from him was the late Sir Robert-Gilmour Colquhoun, of Camstradden, K.C.B., British Consul-General in the Danubian principalities, and diplomatic agent in Egypt, who purchased Fincastle, Perthshire, in 1833, and d. 1870, having m. 1st, 1837, Margaret-Charlotte, dau. of Thomas Hog, of Newliston, s.p.; 2ndly, 1866, Anna, only child of William Cathrow, of Stoke Lodge, Bucks (now wife of W.-A. Atkinson, Esq.), by whom he had a dau. The Colquhouns of Garscadden, Killermont, and Craigallian, descend from a younger son of John, 7th laird of Camstradden.

Sir Robert's eldest son,

SIR HUMPHREY COLQUHOUN, who witnessed charters 1390-95 had issue, Robert; John; and Patrick, of Glinns, ancestor of the Colquhouns of Kenmure. His eldest son and successor,

ROBERT COLQUHOUN, of Luss, d. s.p. circa 1408, and was s. by his brother,

SIR JOHN COLQUHOUN, of Luss, governor of Dumbarton Castle, in the minority of JAMES II., who was assassinated at Inchmurrin on 24 Sept. 1439, by a band of lawless Highlanders. He had, besides a dau., Isabel, m. to David Douglas, of Mains, a son, Malcolm, who d. v. p., leaving a son,

SIR JOHN COLQUHOUN, of Luss, who s. his grandfather 1439, had in 1457 a charter incorporating his lands into the barony of Luss, in 1458 a charter of forestry of Rossdhu and Glenmuckerne, and in 1465 a charter of Kilmardinny. He was Sheriff of Dumbarton, Comptroller of the Household 1464-66, Keeper of Dumbarton Castle 1477, and in 1474 was one of an embassy to negotiate a marriage between the Scottish heir-apparent and Princess Cecilia, dau. of EDWARD IV. of England. He m. 1st, a lady of the Boyd family, by whom he had HUMPHREY, his successor; Robert, Bishop of Argyle, 1473-95; and Margaret, m. to Sir William Murray, of Tullibardine. He m. 2ndly, circa 1462, Elizabeth, 2nd dau. and co-heir of James Dunbar, Earl of Moray, and widow of Archibald Douglas, Earl of Moray, by whom he had a son. He was killed in 1479 by a cannon ball at the siege of Dunbar Castle, garrisoned by Alexander, Duke of Albany, against the king. His eldest son and successor,

HUMPHREY COLQUHOUN, of Luss, m. 1st, Jean, dau. of Thomas, Lord Erskine, by whom he had, JOHN, his successor; Walter, of Lettyr; Patrick; Humphrey, of Lettyr; Archibald; Agnes, m. John, 4th Lord Somerville; and Elizabeth, m. James Cunningham, of Polmaise. He m. 2ndly, Marion, dau. of William Baillie, of Lamington, and widow of John, Lord Somerville, s.p., and d. August, 1493. His son and heir,

SIR JOHN COLQUHOUN, of Luss, was a party to the seizure of Dumbarton Castle by John, Earl of Lennox, in 1514. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of John, Lord Darnley (Earl of Lennox), by whom he had, HUMPHREY, his heir; James; Walter, ancestor of the Colquhouns of Kilmardinny, Craigton, etc.; John, rector of Stobo; Marion, m. 1st, Robert, Master of Boyd; 2ndly, Thomas Crawford, of Jordanhill; Marjory, m. Sir Duncan Campbell, of Glenorchy; and Katherine, m. Duncan Macfarlane, of that ilk. Sir John m. 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of William Cunningham, of Craigends, and had Thomas; Archibald; and two daus., of whom Giles m. William Chirnside, rector of Luss. He d. 1536, and was s. by his son,

HUMPHREY COLQUHOUN, of Luss, who d. Jan. 1537-8, having Katherine, dau. of William, 1st Earl of Montrose, and had issue, JOHN, his heir; James, of Garscube; Adam; Patrick; Helen, m. James Cunningham of Aiket; and Marion, m. Colin Campbell, of Ardkinglas. His eldest son,

SIR JOHN COLQUHOUN, of Luss, who added considerably to the family possessions, m. 1st, Christian (who d. 1564), dau. Robert, Lord Erskine; 2ndly, 15 Nov. 1564, Agnes, dau. of Robert, 4th Lord Boyd, by whom he had,

I. HUMPHREY, his heir.
II. John, passed over in the succession, alleged in Birrel's Diary to have been accessory to his brother's death.
III. ALEXANDER, successor to his brother Humphrey.
I. Jean, m. Sir Matthew Stewart, of Minto.
II. Margaret, m. Sir James Edmondstone, of Duntreath.

Sir John d. Jan. 1574-5, and was s. by his son,

SIR HUMPHREY COLQUHOUN, of Luss, b. 1565, and s. at the age of nine. He was on hostile terms with the McFarlans and McGregors, and during the feuds of his time was slain in his castle of Bannachra in 1592. He m. 1st, 1583, Jean (who d. 1584), dau. of Alexander, 5th Earl of Glencairn, and widow of Archibald, 5th Earl of Argyll, s.p.; 2ndly, 1585-6, Jean, dau. of Lord John Hamilton, afterwards 1st Marquess of Hamilton, by whom he had three daus. (of whom Anna, m. 1610, Colin Campbell, younger, of Carrick), who resigned what right they had to Luss to their uncle Alexander. Sir Humphrey's brother and successor,

ALEXANDER COLQUHOUN, of Luss, was in 1603, engaged in a very sanguinary conflict with the McGregors at Glenfruin. He m. Helen, dau. of Sir George Buchanan of that ilk, and d. 23 May, 1617, leaving issue,

I. SIR JOHN.
II. Humphrey, of Balvie, by whose interposition in his brother's time the estates were saved. He m. Margaret, dau. of Gilbert, 8th Lord Somerville, s.p.
III. Alexander, m. Marion Stirling, without surviving issue.
IV. William, d. abroad, s.p.
V. George, d. abroad, s.p.

I. Jean, m. 1st, 1626, Alan, 5th Lord Cathcart; 2ndly, Sir Duncan Campbell, of Auchinbreck, Bart.; 3rdly, Sir William Hamilton, 3rd son of James, 1st Earl of Abercorn.
II. Nancy.
III. Katherine, m. Sir John Mure, of Auchindraine.
IV. Helen.
V. Mary.

His eldest son,

Sir John Colquhoun, of Luss, was made a baronet of Nova Scotia, 30 Aug. 1625, with remainder to his heirs male whatsoever. In 1632, a criminal process was raised against him for abduction of his sister-in-law, Lady Katherine Graham, and overcoming her virtue by sorcery. He was in absence fugitated and excommunicated; and his life-rent escheat given to Sir George Douglas, of Spot, afterwards Viscount Belhaven; but his brother Humphrey recovered the estates, and conveyed them to Sir John's eldest son. Sir John d. 1650, having m. July 1620, Lady Lilias Graham, dau. of John, 4th Earl of Montrose, and had,

I. John, 2nd bart.
II. James, 4th bart.
III. Alexander, of Tillichewan or Tilliquhoun, Dumbartonshire, who m. Annabella, dau. of Archibald Stewart, of Scotstoun, and had issue,

1 John, of Tilliquhoun, who, on the death of Sir Humphrey of Luss, in 1718, became heir male of the family. In the belief that his right under the patent of 1625, was unaffected by the resignation of 1704, he assumed the Nova Scotia baronetcy, as did his son Humphrey, who d. unm. 1722.
2 James, m. Elizabeth, dau. of John Colquhoun, of Auchintorlie, and had issue, George, who succeeding his cousin Humphrey in Tilliquhoun, and in the male representation of the family in 1722, also took the title of baronet. The three sons of (Sir) George, James, George, and Robert, s. in turn to Tilliquhoun, were designed baronets, and d. s. p., Robert (designed 10th Bart.), m. Feb. 1822, Anna-Maria, 2nd dau. of James Colvin, of Calcutta, and d. s. p. 1838. Their sister Rebecca, m. Gen. James-Alexander Farquharson, of Oakley, and had, with other issue, William-Macdonald Macdonald, of St. Martin's, whose son is now heir of line of this branch.

I. Jean, m. 1647, Walter Stewart.
II. Lillas, m. 1649, John Napier, younger, of Kilmahew.
III. Katherine, m. 1659, John Drummond, of Pitkellonie.

Sir John's eldest son,

Sir John Colquhoun, of Luss, 2nd bart., acquired the family estates from his uncle in 1646, Balloch, from the Duke of Lennox in 1652, and Lochend (which he sold in 1676) by marriage. He m. 1648, Margaret, dau. of Gideon Baillie of Lochend (afterwards wife of Archibald Stirling, of Garden), and d. 11 April, 1676, having had (with an elder son, John, who d. v. p. unm., and daus., Lilias, m. Sir John Stirling, of Keir; Margaret; Magdalene; Christian, m. William Cunninghame of Craigends, and Helen, m. Robert Dickson, of Sornbeg) a son,

Sir James Colquhoun, of Luss, 3rd bart., who d. unm. 1680, and was s. by his uncle,

Sir James Colquhoun, of Luss, 4th bart., who d. 1688, having m. Penuel, dau. of William Cunningham, of Ballechin, Ireland, and had issue,

I. Humphrey, his heir.
II. James, m. Deborah, dau. and co-heiress of Henry Blennerhassett, of Castle Hassett, and by him, who d. in 1699, had two daus. and co-heirs; the elder, Lillias, m. Alexander Squire, Esq., and was mother of James Squire, who m. Catherine, dau. of Henry Chittick, of Muckross. Fourth in descent from James Squire and Catherine Chittick is James A. Rentoul, LL.D., Q.C., M.P. for co. Down (East).
I. Elizabeth, m. to Alexander Falconer, of Kipps.

The eldest son and heir was

Sir Humphrey Colquhoun, of Luss, 5th bart. He represented Dumbartonshire in Parliament in 1703 and following years, opposed the Union, but supported the Revolution Settlement of 1715. On 29 April, 1704, having no issue-male, he resigned his baronetcy to the crown, and obtained a new patent with the former precedency and limitation, failing heirs male of his body to James Grant of Pluscardine, and the heirs male of his marriage with his (Sir Humphrey's) dau. In 1706 he entailed his lands on Humphrey Grant, his daughter's eldest son, and the heirs male of his body—whom failing on the other sons of the said marriage, and the heirs male of their body, etc., with the provise that the Grant and Colquhoun estates were never to be united. He m. 1684, Margaret, dau. of Sir Patrick Houstoun of that ilk, and d. 1718, having had a dau.,

Anne, b. 1685, d 1724, having m. 29 Jan. 1702, James Grant of Pluscardine (2nd son of Ludovic Grant of Grant), who on the death of his father-in-law s. to the baronetcy and took the name of Colquhoun. He resumed the name of Grant in 1719, when the Grant estates devolved on him by the death of his elder brother, and d. 16 Jan. 1747. Sir James Colquhoun, or Grant, 6th bart., and Anne Colquhoun, had issue,

CONROY.

CONROY, SIR JOHN, Bart. of Llanbrynmair, co. Montgomery, M.A., F.R.S., J.P., b. 16 Aug. 1845; s. his father as 3rd bart. 1869.

Lineage.

This is one of the ancient Milesian families of Ireland, educing its descent from Maine, son of Nial, of the 9 ostages, Monarch of Ireland, A.D. 400.
"It was the privilege of the O'Mulconry (saith the old ronicles) to stand alone, with the new king, upon the sacred mount of Carn Fraoich, and there to deliver into his hands, the white wand or sceptre, the emblem of sovereignty, to administer the usual oath or admonition to preserve the customs of the country, and finally to record the proceedings."

The early part of the pedigree of the chiefs of this family (of whom the present baronet is the lineal descendant) is to be found in the Funeral Entries, Vol. VII., in Ulster's Office, Dublin Castle, from which it appears that the funeral, and lineage of Moylin O'Mulconry, chief of his name, were duly registered, recording Moylin, as 43rd in descent of this ancient family, and received the warranty dated 6 July, 1638, of Thomas Preston, then Ulster, King of Arms.

MOYLIN O'MULCONRY, of Tullon, co. Roscommon [The O'Mulconry] had by his wife Catherine, dau. of Teique O'Flanagan of Ceancloin, five sons and four daus. He d. 1637. His eldest son,

THORNA O'MULCONRY, or CONRY, b. 1600; m. Evelin, dau. of Ferdoragh Mac Branan, of Clonicarran, Gent., and dying in 1647, was s. by his only son,

JOHN O'MULCONRY, or CONEY, who, having taken part in the civil war, as a royalist, suffered from the confiscations inflicted upon the native families by CROMWELL, and fled to France, where finally dropping the prefixes to his name, he m. in 1655, Florence, dau. and heir of Gerald-Fitzgerald (of the House of Desmond), and was killed in the service of LOUIS XIV., at the passage of the Rhine, 11 June, 1672, leaving one dau. and two sons. The elder,

CHARLES CONRY, Esq., b. in 1657, had a re-grant of land in co. Roscommon from King CHARLES II., dated 16 Aug. 1678. By the adherence of this gentleman to the cause of King JAMES II. he was totally ruined, and fell at the battle of the Boyne, 1 July, 1690. He was s. by his brother as heir male,

FERFEASA CONRY, Esq., of Elphin, b. in 1661, who became the first protestant of this family, to avoid the penalties inflicted upon the Irish catholics by the penal laws of King WILLIAM III. He m. 1702, Cicely Aylmer, and dying in 1746 was s. by his only son,

JOHN CONRY, Esq., of Bettifield, co. Roscommon, b. in 1704, m. 1747, Elizabeth, only dau. of Robert Foulke, Esq. of Currah, co. Cork (descended from the ancient English family of FOULKE of Gunston, in Staffordshire), and dying in 1769, left issue two daus. and one son, JOHN-PONSONBY, his heir, b. 1759.

Elizabeth, m. 1776, Dr. Robert Longfield, of Cork, cousin to the Viscount Longueville (see Family of LONGFIELD, in BURKE'S Landed Gentry), and d. in 1818.
Catherine, m. 1783, Walter Hore, Esq. of Seafield, co. Wexford, 3rd son of Walter Hore, Esq. of Harpurstown, co. Wexford, and nephew to the 2nd Earl of Courtown; she d. 1824.

The only son,

JOHN-PONSONBY CONRY, Esq., barrister-at-law, inserted the O in the final syllable of his name; b. in 1759; he m. in 1785, Margaret, dau. of Francis-Vernon Wilson, Esq. of Tully, co. Longford, (descended from an English cadet, who, coming into Ireland as a captain of horse in CROMWELL'S army, obtained large grants of confiscated land); and d. 23 Sept. 1797, leaving issue,

I. JOHN, his heir, the 1st baronet.
II. George, b. 1788; a midshipman in the R.N.; d. unm. at sea, in 1805.

Coldstream guards; b. 11 July, 1856; s. his father as 4th bart. 1891; m. 25 July, 1888, Caroline-Douglas, only child of Capt. James Stewart, of St. Fort, Fife (11th Hussars), and has issue,

I. VINCENT-STEWART, b. 27 Jan. 1890.
II. Roland-James, b. 19 Aug. 1892.

Lineage.

This is one of the few families still existing, who trace, in the male line, an undoubted descent from an ancient race of the same name in Normandy, of whom was Hugh Corbet (or Corbeau), living 1040.

He had issue, four sons, viz., Hugh, Roger, Robert, and Reginald. Of these, Hugh, the eldest son, succeeded to the lands in Normandy, and was ancestor of the Corbets of that country. Reginald, the youngest son, accompanied Hugh, Count de Saint Paul, to the Holy Land, in 1096, and was ancestor of the Corbets of Artois, and of Flanders. Châtelaines de Saint Paul. The two other sons, Roger and Robert, accompanied their father into England, at the Norman Invasion. Robert, the third son, received large estates in Shropshire, and elsewhere, and had issue, one son, Robert Corbet (Lord of Alcester, co. Warwick, who d. without issue), and two daus., 1 Sibil, ancestress of the Earls of Pembroke, and 2 Alice, ancestress of the Earls of Huntingdon.

ROGER FITZ-CORBET, the second son, held, at the general survey, no less than twenty-four lordships in Shropshire, &c. He left a son,

WILLIAM DE CORBET, of Caus Castle, and Wattlesborough, co. Salop, who was father of Thomas Corbet, of Wattlesborough, and

SIR ROBERT CORBET, from whom descended Peter Corbet, of Caus Castle, who was summoned to parliament as a baron, temp. EDWARD I. (See BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.)

THOMAS CORBET, the eldest son, was grandfather of

SIR RICHARD CORBET, who settled at Moreton and his direct line continues still to reside there. Twelfth in descent from this Sir Richard was,

SIR VINCENT CORBET, Knt. of Moreton Corbet, living in 1606, who m. Frances, dau. and heir of William Humfreston, Esq. of Humfreston, and had two sons, ANDREW, his heir, and ROBERT, ancestor of the CORBETS of Ynysymaengwyn, and of the CORBETS of Darnhall, co. Chester, and Elsham, co. Lincoln. The elder son,

SIR ANDREW CORBET, Knt. of Moreton Corbet, b. Aug. 1580; m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Boothby, Esq., and left at his decease, in 1637, two sons, namely,

I. VINCENT, b. 1617, who inherited Moreton Corbet, and was created a Baronet in 1642. He m. Sarah, dau. of Sir Robert Monson, of Carlton, co. Lincoln, and by that lady, who was created, in 1679, a Viscountess for life, he left, in 1656,

VINCENT (Sir), 2nd baronet of Moreton Corbet, who d. in 1680, leaving (with a dau., Beatrice, m. to John Kynaston, Esq.) an only son,

VINCENT (Sir), 3rd baronet, at whose decease in minority, unm., anno 1688, the baronetcy expired. (See BURKE'S Extinct Baronetage.)

II. Richard.

The younger son,

RICHARD CORBET, Esq., was of Shawbury Park, but surviving his great-nephew, Sir Vincent Corbet, 3rd baronet, who d. s. p. in 1688, as stated above, inherited the family estates, and became of Moreton Corbet. This gentleman m. Grace, dau. of Sir William Noel, of Kirkby Mallory, co. Leicester; and dying in 1690, was s. by his son,

RICHARD CORBET (Captain), of Moreton Corbet, J.P., D.L., who m. Judith, dau. of Sir John Bridgeman, Bart. of Castle Bromwich, and was s. in 1718 by his son, ichard, 2nd viscount.

ROBERT, of Stalbridge, in Dorsetshire, b. at Lismore,
5 Jan. 1626; the celebrated philosopher, who, ennobled y his own transcendent talents, repeatedly refused the ignities of the state, having been several times offered a eerage. He d. 30 Dec. 1691, and was interred in the hancel of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Westminster. His haracter is given by Dr. Gilbert Burnet, in his Funeral ermon, preached on him at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Jan. 1692; and The present state of Europe for the February
f the same year, contains this paragraph:—"The famous
Mr. Boyle is dead, and his loss is lamented by all learned men. He was a philosopher under a particular character, for he addicted himself only to the study of natural philosophy, though he did not reject the other parts of that science; and it may be said, that never any man had dived so deep into the knowledge of nature as he had done; he had studied with a prodigious sedulity, and had so many experiments to explain the several phenomena which daily happen upon the concurrence of natural accidents, that there were few at this time of which he did not understand the real causes."

Lineage.

This noble family was founded by

JOHN COVENTRY, who amassed considerable wealth in the city of London, and filled the offices of sheriff and lord-mayor in 1416 and 1425. (He was one of the executors of the celebrated Sir Richard Whittington.) From this opulent citizen lineally descended

THOMAS COVENTRY, an eminent lawyer, who was appointed chief-justice of the court of Common Pleas in 1606. He m. Margaret, dau. and heir of Jeffreys, of Earles Croome, otherwise Croome d'Abitot, by whom he had (with three daus., Joan, wife of Mr. Rogers, of Surrey; Catherine, m. to William Child, Esq.; and Anne, m. to George Frampton, Esq. of Dorsetshire) three sons,

THOMAS, his successor.
William, of Ridmarley, Worcestershire.
Walter, whose son,
Walter, m. Anne, dau. of Simon Holcombe, Esq. of the co. Devon, and left, with other issue,
WILLIAM, of whom hereafter, as 5th Earl of Coventry.

The eldest son,

THOMAS COVENTRY, pursuing the profession of his father, was appointed, in 1621, attorney-general, and advanced, in four years afterwards (1 Nov. 1625), to the high office of Lord Keeper of the great seal. On 18 April, 1628, he was elevated to the peerage, by the title of *Baron Coventry, of Aylesborough, co. Lineage.

This family, which originally held the extensive barony of the same name in Clydesdale, is of great antiquity in Scotland. The ancient legend as to the foundation of Holyrood Abbey by David in 1128, makes the king owe his life to Sir Gregan Craufurd; and others of his name appear in charters of the same century, about the close of which Reginald de Craufurd acquired, West Kilbride, and other possessions in Ayrshire by marriage with the heiress of Loudoun, and was ancestor of Reginald, of Crosby, in West Kilbride, who, having distinguished himself at Bannockburn, was rewarded by ROBERT BRUCE in 1320 with the estate of Auchinames, and the addition of two spears in saltier to his arms. His great-grandson, Archibald, of Crosby and Auchinames, m. circa 1440, Margaret, dau. of Sir Wm. Douglas, and granddau. and heir of Sir John Stewart, of Pierston, and had two sons, Robert, from whom the Auchinames families derive, and Thomas, of Thirdpart, from whom descended

Lineage.

The house of Lindsay is found in possession of very large territories in England and Scotland soon after the Norman conquest, and different members of this family have been conspicuous not only for their wealth and power, but for the distinction with which they have occupied offices of great public importance. The name appears to have died out in England, temp. EDW. II., after which the Lindsays are not summoned to parliament. It has been surmised, after long and patient investigation, that their first ancestor was a cadet of the house of De Toeny, Knights of the Swan, hereditary standard bearers of Normandy, with the Dukes of which they had a common male origin.

RANDOLPH, Sire de Toeny, living in 1018, great-grandson of Hugo, Sire de Cavalcamp, great-grandson of Ivar Jarl of the Uplanders, descended of the race of Thor and of Fornioter, in remote ages legendary king of the north (male ancestor of the Dukes of Normandy and of the Clares, Cliffords, Staffords, Toenys, Lindsays, &c.), had two sons,

I. Roger de Toeny (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage).
II. Hugo, who adopted from a fief in Normandy the name of Limesay, and had,
  1 Randolph, founder of the Priory of Hertford, lord of Wolverley and many other lordships, father of Alan de Limesay, lord of Wolverley, whose son, Gerard de Limesay, left issue, Sir John, lord of Wolverley, d. s. p., and two daus., the eldest of whom, Aleonora, m. her cousin, Sir David, lord of Crawford.
  2 BALDRIC, of Tadford, in Lincolnshire.

His grandson,

BALDRIC, younger son of Hugo, had the following issue, whose order of seniority is not determined,

I. Richard.
II. Walter, held a knight's fee in Norfolk, 1116, settled in Scotland, and d. s. p.
III. WILLIAM DE LIMESAY (or Lindesay), appears as lord of Ercildun (or Earlston), near the Tweed, founder of the house of Crawford.
IV. Ranulph, a great lord in Northumbria in right of his wife, Ethelreda, granddau. of Earl Cospatrick.

His great-grandson,

WILLIAM, son of Walter, son of William, succeeded as 3rd Lord of Ercildun, a magnate of Scotland, 1161–1200, was a hostage for King WILLIAM THE LION, at the court of HENRY II., and afterwards High Justiciary of the Lothian. He acquired the lordship of Crawford, in Clydesdale, before 1200. By his wife, Marjory, dau. of Henry, Prince of Scotland, sister of King WILLIAM the Lion, he had issue,

I. SIR DAVID DE LINDESAY, s. as 2nd lord of Crawford, 1200, m. Aleonora de Limesay; d. 1214, having had issue,
  1 DAVID, high justiciary of Lothian, 1238; s. his father as 3rd lord of Crawford, and his maternal uncle as Lord of Limesay and Wolverley in England.

  4 Walter, d. s. p.
  1 Alice, m. to Sir Henry Pinckney; s. to the great English estates on the death of her brother, when the lordship of Crawford was resumed by the Scottish Crown and re-granted to the heir male.
II. Sir Walter de Lindsay, high justiciary of the Lothian, constable of Berwick, ambassador to King JOHN in 1215, became by marriage lord of Lamberton. He d. in 1221, having had issue,
  Sir William, lord of Lamberton, who acquired the territories of Windermere, Grassmere, &c., by marriage with Alice, dau. and co-heir of William de Lancaster, lord of Kendal (her younger sister is now represented by the E. OF CRAWFORD), and had issue,
    1 Walter, lord of Lamberton, whose son, William, possessor of great estates in Cumberland, Lancashire, and twenty-five counties of Scotland; m. Ada, sister and eventual co-heir of King JOHN BALIOL. His only dau., Christiana, m. Ingelram de Coucy, 2nd son of Arnold III., Count of Guignes, and is now represented by Robert, Duke of Parma, eldest son of Charles, Duke of Parma, by Louise, his wife, sister of the Comte de Chambord, who d. 24 Aug. 1883.
    2 John, Bishop of Glasgow.
III. William de Lindsay, lord of Luffness, whose younger son founded the house of Craigie, and of whose elder son we treat.

His grandson (son of William),

3 Margaret, m. 1595, David, 1st Earl of Southesk.

John, who was granted the ecclesiastical revenues of lenmuir, Lethnot, and Lochlee, and created a lord of ession as Lord Menmuir. He was one of the Octavians or ght persons in charge of the royal finances, and occupied an important place in the public life of his time. Having m. Marion Guthrie, widow of Sir John Borthwick, he bought Balcarres from his stepson, and established his family there. He had two sons,

1 John, d. s. p.

2 DAVID, created Lord Balcarres, ancestor of the present Earl of Crawford, who will be noticed presently.

DAVID, 10th Earl of Crawford, s. his kinsman, in 1558, and was a faithful adherent of Queen MARY's cause. By his wife, Margaret Beatoun, dau. of the Cardinal Archbishop of St. Andrews, he left issue,

I. DAVID, his heir.
II. HENRY, s. as 13th earl.
III. Sir John, K.B., of Ballinscho, who d. 6 Jan. 1609, having by his wife, Catherine, dau. of John Lindsay, of Balcarres, Lord Menmuir, had three sons, Colonel John, who fell in battle 1631; Colonel Alexander, who also fell in battle; and Colonel Henry, who d. at Hamburg 1639; all s. p.
IV. Alexander, who accompanied King JAMES VI. to Denmark, on the occasion of his marriage, and was afterwards created LORD SPYNIE, 17 April, 1692. By his wife, Jean Lyon, Countess of Angus, he had issue (besides other children), Alexander, 2nd Lord Spynie, who fought in Germany, under Gustavus Adolphus. By his 2nd wife, Lady Margaret Hay (Kinnoul), he had issue,

1 Alexander, d. s. p.

2 GEORGE, 3rd Lord Spynie, who ruined his estate in raising forces for King CHARLES I. On the death of Ludovic, 16th Earl of Crawford, he became Lord Lindsay and chief of the house, but d. s. p. 1672.

1 Margaret, whose descendant, Lieut.-Col. William Fullarton, unsuccessfully claimed the barony in 1784.

The eldest son,

DAVID, 11th Earl of Crawford, m. 1st, Lilias, dau. of Lord Drummond; and 2ndly, Lady Grizel Stewart, dau. of John, 4th Earl of Atholl, and d. 22 Nov. 1607, leaving by her,

Lineage.

The family of Croft, which is of Saxon origin, settled in Herefordshire at a very remote period. Camden, in his description of that county, says "Not far off from Richard's Castle stands Croft Castle, belonging to the very ancient and knightly family of the Crofts"; and in Domesday-

Book, Bernard de Croft is mentioned as holding the lands of Croft, which his descendants inherited until the close of the 18th century, and served their county and Leominster in Parliament during seven centuries, between 1297 and 1880.

From an almost uninterrupted line of knights, distinguished alike in council and in arms, descended

Sir John de Croft, Knt. of Croft Castle, co. Hereford, captain of Merk Castle, near Calais, who was frequently employed in negotiations in Flanders, between 1402 and 1404. He m. Janet, dau. and co-heir of Owen ap Griffith Vychan, Lord of Glyndwrdwy, in Merionethshire, the renowned Owen Glendower, representative of the Princes of Powys, and was father of William de Croft, whose son was

Sir Richard Croft, Knt. of Croft Castle, high-sheriff and M.P. of the co. Hereford; the captor of Prince Edward, son of Henry VI., at the battle of Tewkesbury, in 1471. This gallant soldier was appointed treasurer of the household to Henry VII., and had the high honour of knight-bannaret conferred upon him at the battle of Stoke, in 1487. The direct descendant of Sir Richard,

Sir James Croft, Knt., M.P. for co. Hereford was lord-deputy of Ireland in 1552; and, subsequently, privy-councillor and comptroller of the household to Queen Elizabeth, and was s. at his decease by his grandson,

Sir Herbert Croft, Knt., M.P. for the co. Hereford, temp. Elizabeth and James I. This gentleman, espousing the doctrines of the church of Rome, in 1607, became a lay-brother of the Benedictine monastery of Douay, where he d. 10 April, 1622. He had previously married, and left four sons and two daus. Sir William, the eldest son, M.P. for Malmesbury, gallantly fighting under the royal banner, was slain in the grounds of Croft Castle, after the siege and capture of Stokesay Castle, near Ludlow, 9 June, 1645. Sir James, the 2nd son, was also an officer of rank in the royal army, as was Robert, the 4th son, and all d. without issue. The 3rd son,

Herbert Croft, was advanced, in 1662, to the bishopric of Hereford, and appointed, in 1667, dean of the chapel-royal. His lordship d. 12 May, 1691, and was s. by his only son,

I. Sir Herbert Croft, M.P. for co. Hereford, who had been created a Baronet, 18 Nov. 1671. Sir Herbert m. Elizabeth (aunt of the 1st Lord Archer) dau. of Thomas Archer, Esq. of Umberslade, co. Warwick by whom (who d. in 1709) he had,

Lineage.

John Dick, a merchant in Edinburgh, of great eminence, m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Lewis Stewart, of Kirkhill, and was s. by an only son,

Sir William Dick, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Morrison, of Preston Grange. This gentleman, adopting from his youth the profession of commerce, became one of the most eminent bankers in Scotland, and acquired considerable wealth, even before the decease of his father, which appears by his advancing to the king £6000 sterling, to defray the household expenses when his majesty held a parliament in Scotland, in 1618. In 1628, he farmed the customs on wine, at £6222 sterling, and the crown rents in Orkney, at £3000 sterling per annum, and afterwards the excise. Mr. Dick was elected lord-provost of Edinburgh in 1638 and 1639 ; and was knighted in 1646. Sir William was fined by the parliamentarians, as a malignant, in no less a sum than £64,934; and afterwards coming to London to demand payment of moneys he had previously advanced upon government security, he was thrown into prison by Cromwell, and d. at Westminster, 19 Dec. 1655. His 4th son,

Alexander Dick, who received from his father, in patrimony, the lands of Heugh, near North Berwick, m. in 1641, Helen, dau. of Sir James Rocheid, of Inverleith, and was s. at his decease by his elder son,

I. James Dick, b. in Nov. 1643, a merchant of great eminence and wealth in Edinburgh, who, having purchased the lands of Priestfield, or Prestonfield, was created a Baronet of Nova Scotia, 2 March, 1677, under the title of Sir James Dick, of Prestonfield, Sir James accompanied the Duke of York from London in 1682, and was twice Lord Provost of Edinburgh. Lineage.

The Ramsay family settled in the Lothians in the 12th century, when they are found witnessing various royal charters to religious houses.

William de Ramsay swore fealty to Edward I. for his lands of Dalwolsey (Dalhousie) in Lothian, and Foulden, in Berwickshire. Joining Robert Bruce, he was one of the signatories of the famous letter of 1320 to the Pope, asserting Scotland's independence.

Sir Alexander Ramsay, of Dalwolsey, distinguished himself in the struggle against English domination in the minority of David II. For capturing Roxburgh Castle he was rewarded by being made keeper of that fortress and sheriff of Teviotdale in supersession of Sir William Douglas of Liddesdale, who in retaliation, in June, 1342, seized Ramsay at Hawick and conveyed him to his castle of Hermitage, where he died of starvation.

Sir William Ramsay, of Dalwolsey, sheriff of Edinburgh, distinguished himself by a raid into England in 1355, and appears on record down to 1379.

Sir Patrick Ramsay, son of the last, was put in possession of Dalhousie, Keryntoun, &c., in his father's lifetime, and resigned them in favour of his grandson, Alexander, son of his son Alexander, of Carnock. He d. v. p. 1377.

Sir Alexander Ramsay, of Dalwolsey, grandson last, fell at Homildon, 1402.

DALLAS.

DALLAS, SIR GEORGE-EDWARD, Bart., of Petsal, co. Stafford, Chief Clerk of the Foreign Office b. 9 Oct. 1842; s. his father as 3rd bart. 1874; m. 17 Sept. 1884, Felicia-Mary, eldest dau. of Rev. Canon George-Earle Welby, rector of Barrowby.

Lineage.

The family of Dallas is of great antiquity in the counties of Elgin and Nairn, and derives its name from the locality which was the original settlement of the clan. Dallas is a parish of co. Elgin, in the presbytery of Forres, and synod of Moray. The name is composed of two Gaelic words—dale, a valley or plain, and uis, contracted from uisge, water. The barony of Dallas, containing the remains of the castle of Dallas or Torcastle, has long been the property of the Cummings of Altyre. The branch of the family of Dallas, from which the present Baronet is descended, removed to Cantray, in the parish of Cawder, presbytery of Mairn, and synod of Moray, in the 2nd year of King ROBERT III. (1400), and remained in possession of that barony for nearly 400 years, until the estate was alienated by sale to the family of Davidson. For an account of the family of Dallas see BURKE'S Landed Gentry, DALLAS-YORKE.

JAMES DALLAS, Laird of Cantray, was killed at Culloden; and soon after that event, some of his clan emigrated to the West Indies and the United States of America, where they formed establishments, to which, in memory of their Highland home and ancestry, they gave the same territorial designation. Dallas Castle is an estate of considerable importance in the island of Jamaica, and the county of Dallas is an extensive district in the state of Alabama. The American branch of this family attained great distinction in the United States. Alexander Dallas, whose father had settled in Jamaica, was an eminent advocate at the bar of Philadelphia, and filled high office in the Cabinet of successive Presidents. His eldest son, GEORGE MI DALLAS, was also a leading member of the Bar, senat Pennsylvania, and vice-president of the United States was also minister plenipotentiary of the United Stat St. Petersburg in 1835, and at the Court of St. James in

GEORGE DALLAS, of St. Martin's, N.B., was a lawy great eminence at Edinburgh in the 16th century, Keeper of the Great Seal of Scotland. He was the anc of the late General Sir Thomas Dallas, G.C.B., of the E. army.

DASHWOOD.

DASHWOOD, SIR ROBERT-JOHN, Bart., of West Wycombe, co. Bucks, D.L., b. at Nelson, New Zealand, 3 June, 1859; s. his brother as 9th bart. 1893; late lieut. 7th Middlesex R.V., now capt. 3rd batt. Oxfordshire L.I.; m. 25 July, 1893, Clara-Adelaide Ida-Conyers, eldest dau. of Major William-Bayford Lindsay, formerly 14th regt., and has had issue,

Robert-Francis-Lindsay, b. 17 Sept. 1894; d. 16 March, 1895.
JOHN-LINDSAY, b. 25 April, 1896.

Lineage.

The family of Dashwood was originally seated in Dorsetshire, whence it removed into the co. Somerset, and settled at Vellow Wood, in the parish of Stogumber, towards the latter part of the reign of ELIZABETH. Over the porch of the house at Vellow Wood was a stone with the carved initials R. D., for Robert Dashwood, and the date 1606. This property remained in the elder branch of the Dashwood family until sold to Sir John Trevelyan, of Nettlecombe, by Robert Dashwood, Esq. This

ROBERT DASHWOOD, Esq., who sold Vellow Wood, and removed to the adjoining parish of Bicknoller, in 1749, was son of Robert, of Vellow Wood, and grandson of William, also of Vellow Wood, whose father Robert was son of Francis Dashwood, Esq. of Vellow Wood, whose will, dated 27 Feb. 1629, was proved 17 April following. Mr. Dashwood, the last of Vellow Wood, d. 1769, leaving by Mary Sweeting his wife, five sons and four daus., viz.,
